AMERICAN ART ASSOCIATION

30 East 57th Street,
New York City.

Dear Sirs: Although many interesting and important art collections have come from the Old World to the New; although many who have come to these shores to make this their home, have brought with them all of their hereditary and valued household possessions, it has seldom if ever happened that the entire contents of a great and famous European palace have been brought to this country to be here disposed of, either by private treaty or public sale.

While in Stockholm last October, my advice was sought by Mr. Carl Robert Lamm, the present owner of Näsby Slott, at Roslags Näsby, Sweden, as to whether or not, the great art-loving public of the United States would appreciate and purchase his widely known collection of paintings, rugs, fabrics, armor, furniture, bronzes, silver and numerous other objects that furnished, and were housed in, this wonderful old castle, about twenty-five miles north of Stockholm.

A visit to Näsby Slott, and an examination of its contents, convinced me that the collection was truly a remarkable one, and that the general character of it was such as to appeal to many American art lovers, both by reason of its quality and variety.

It is thus that Mr. and Mrs. Lamm have entrusted me with the dispersal of their collection, and that I in turn have consigned it to you, the American Art Association, for public sale under your management, and in accordance with the usual terms and conditions of your sales.

Näsby Slott was built in the year 1665-1666 for Count Peder Larsson Sparre by Nicodemus Tessin the Elder, the architect, who soon thereafter built the Royal Palace in Stockholm.

Living way up in the North, in this splendid old castle on the shores of the Baltic, surrounded by acres of his own ground, with his own farms and his own villages, Mr. Lamm has spent thirty beautiful and romantic years, gathering from all corners of the earth such treasures and works of art as appealed to his taste and his imagination.

It was never his aim to form a collection of one kind of art, or the art of one nation or period, for his enthusiasm was too great and his interests too varied to permit of such limitations.

In forming his collection he was prompted largely by the impulse to surround himself with all that was beautiful and by the profound desire to understand countries and ages other than his own. So he lived and worked with his art treasures around him, and in his spare hours he delved into their histories and studied their beauties. As in all great collections that express the collector's progress, there is much that is below the standard and unworthy of the high merit of his later purchases. For Mr. Lamm, even more than most, became a student as well as a lover of art, and as his knowledge grew, his enthusiasm and ardor increased, and thus his collection was constantly enriched by the acquisition of finer and finer objects.

Few men are as fortunate as Mr. Lamm in having so sympathetic and interested a helpmate, and one who so thoroughly shares his enthusiasm as does Mrs. Lamm. The daughter and the sister of museum curators, she has not only enjoyed an art education from her youth, but has herself developed much taste and discrimination.

Among others in their artistic circle may be mentioned, as a close friend for many years, and one who has much assisted Mr. Lamm in his selections, Dr. Frederick Martin, the well-known art expert, and author of the great work entitled: "A History of Oriental Carpets before 1800."

Many of the paintings, rugs and art objects have been shown at important exhibitions in London and Paris, and several were reproduced in the catalogue of the Munich Exhibition of Mohammedan Art in 1910, and other publications of note. Of the rugs, nine are described and reproduced in Dr. Martin's book.

Much of the furniture and silver in the collection, and many of the clocks and bronzes, represent France of the eighteenth century in all her glory. As a result of the very cordial and friendly relations that existed between Gustavus III and Louis XVI, Sweden accepted and delighted in French culture of the time. Through this friendly intercourse between the two nations, a great deal of fine French art found its way into Sweden, and the taste of that country still reflects the dominating influence of eighteenth century France.

The large assemblage of arms and armor, and the interest which it never fails to arouse in that land of the descendants of the Vikings, is truly a relic of feudalism, and the age when Sweden was one of the greatest fighting powers the world has ever known.

Rembrandt heads the list of famous painters represented by examples in the Lamm Collection, and this picture is doubly interesting because it is a well-known self portrait of that greatest of masters in the prime of his youth, glowing with warmth and vitality. It dates from about the same period as the self portrait in Mrs. Gardner's Collection in Boston, and shows a more mature subject than a number of self portraits of earlier dates in the Hague Museum, and other public and private collections. Its unquestionable authenticity and its high artistic merit are not only attested by Dr. Bode, Dr.

Valentiner and other experts, but also by the fact of its being of that period before the many contemporaries and followers of Rembrandt were so influenced by his style of painting as to produce many canvases which undoubtedly have been and are now erroneously considered the work of the great master's own hand. The painting was in British possession for many years, and was acquired by Mr. Lamm from the estate of the late R. B. Berens of London.

Rembrandt's famous contemporary and countryman, Frans Hals, is represented by the portrait of a woman dressed in luminous black, with a white ruff and cuffs, and wearing a small lace cap. The background, of light mahogany color, lends charm to the figure, which stands out with dignity and self-possession. The beautiful simplicity of the woman's pose and the position of her hand is typical of the master's work. Although painted around 1616, when the artist was in his thirty-seventh year, it is, according to Hofstede de Groot, one of the earliest of Hals "chef-d'œuvres" that has come down to us.

There are five Rubens canvases of various types and sizes. The portrait of a young man, painted between 1614 and 1615, deserves special mention as one of the most vigorous and finished products of the artist's brush, and one of his most successful male portraits.

Of the three important examples of Rubens's no less famous pupil, Anton Van Dyck, perhaps the most interesting historically is the portrait of Paulus Pontius, the artist whose name we associate chiefly with his excellent engravings after paintings by Van Dyck, and with a number of portraits which Van Dyck etched of him.

"The Death of the Virgin," by Lucas Cranach, is most interesting in its conception and beautiful in color, with its gold background and fabrics of Gothic design.

Bernard Striegel, the early German artist, and contemporary of Dürer, whose work is extremely rare, is represented by the portrait of a young nobleman, dated 1502. Dr. Friedlander, of the Kaiser Friederich Museum in Berlin, declared it to be of unusual value because of its early date, the museum having no example of his work of that period.

No Swedish collection is complete without examples of its greatest artist of this generation, the late Anders Zorn, and here he is found, not only in two notable oils, one of which he personally declared to be the best he ever did, but also in three etchings, of which one, presented to Mr. Lamm by the artist himself, is so rare as to have it said that there is but one other copy in existence.

Besides those already mentioned, the splendid examples by great masters whose works are both rare and valuable are too numerous to be described individually, for they include canvases of many countries and periods.

Among the tapestries there are several of unusual importance and charm. A seventeenth century Brussels pastoral tapestry, with landscape and figures of exceptionally fine weave, is signed "M. de Vos," and bears the Brussels mark on the selvedge.

A splendidly preserved early sixteenth century Arras Gothic Verdure, with leaves, wild animals and flowers, and complete border of fruit and flower design, is still bright in color and of desirable size and proportions.

A magnificent French tapestry, woven at the Gobelins factory in Paris around 1712 by J. Souet, represents the month of October, and is one of a set of twelve months woven for Louis XIV, similar to those made for the Infante Ferdinand of Portugal around 1530, after cartoons of Lucas Van Leyden, which are known as "Les Mois dit de Lucas." This particular tapestry was presented by Louis XIV to the Swedish ambassador at his court, Count Sparre, through whom it became the property of Queen Louisa Ulrica of Sweden. Aside from its historic interest, it is of rare importance, for it is so well preserved and so beautiful in color that one can still appreciate each gradation of tone as it was originally executed.

Very unusual is the huge Brussels tapestry table cover of the early seventeenth century, with its gay detached sprays of flowers and butterflies on a blue-black field, and its center medallion depicting the "Angel's Visit to Abraham."

A beautiful pair of sixteenth century Arras tapestry cushions were made for Charles IX when Dauphin of France.

Among the many pieces of signed eighteenth century French furniture, perhaps the finest is the important inlaid tulipwood upright secrétaire, mounted with cuirvre doré, and signed by the great "Ebéniste du Roi," Jean François Oeben.

No less interesting is the remarkably fine inlaid tulipwood writing table which has the unusual distinction of having both the cabinet work and the mountings signed. The signature of Pierre Bernard, "Maitre Ebéniste," is found on the top of the left-hand drawer, while C. P., presumably Philippe Cafferri, is responsible for the splendidly sculptured mounts.

Of unusual beauty is the richly inlaid Louis XV tulipwood commode, with its serpentine front of perfect proportions, and elaborately mounted in cuirvre doré in the style of Cafferri. This piece comes from the collection of the Château de Courbières, Haute Loire, France.

A pair of inlaid tulipwood Encoignures are delightful examples of the work of the "Maitre Ebéniste," G. Jansen, and illustrate the French genius in furnishing the corners of a room.

There are four Régence carved walnut fauteuils, splendidly upholstered in the original petit- and gros-point, and many state and side chairs covered in brocade, needlework, tapestry and illuminated leather.

Of the Louis XIV period there are a number of very fine inlaid kingwood Commodes mounted in cuirre doré, and topped with slabs of "Rouge Royal" marble. One of the best of these is signed I. B. Fromageval.

It is hardly possible to find a better or more typical example of French Renaissance furniture than the superb cabinet, reminiscent of the work of Jean Goujon. Dr. von Falke of the "Kunstgewerbe Museum" in Berlin has written about it.

A unique specimen of the finest Syro-Damascene carving of the fifteenth century is the cypress-wood door, which has been reproduced and described both by Dr. Ernest Diez of Vienna and Dr. Frederick Martin of Stockholm.

The rugs in the Lamm Collection are by no means the least important feature of it, for there are not less than fourteen of extraordinary type, and supreme beauty. Perhaps the earliest is a Kouba, or Dragon Carpet, from Eastern Asia Minor, with a lustrous ruby-red field fluctuating to a deep rose as its predominating color, but including many others, in superbly delicate shades. Experts disagree as to the date of this rug, and their opinions vary from the middle of the thirteenth to the early fifteenth century. All, however, agree as to its beauty and rarity.

An Imperial Ispahan seventeenth century Marine Carpet, with a central diamond medallion and boats, is so rare that in Persia it is said that the possession of it is punishable by death.

Probably unique in color and type is the Ispahan, late seventeenth century, sapphire-blue Garden Carpet, of a rare design simulating gay flower-beds, fountains, canals and drifting boats.

The sixteenth century Persian flowered cartouche carpet has long, arched stems of hyacinths sweeping down its entire length, and is brilliant in color and splendid in design.

All four of these rugs are reproduced in Dr. Martin's book: "A History of Oriental Carpets before 1800," and mentioned in A. F. Kendrick's book entitled: "Handwoven Carpets, Oriental and European."

There are a number of miscellaneous objects of particular interest. A rare sixteenth century Italian cuirre doré lock, hasp and key show superb workmanship and excellent modeling of the figures.

One of the earliest European bronzes in the collection is a fine group of "Neptune and the Marine Monster," by Adrien de Vries (1560-1627).

An exquisite example of seventeenth century German workmanship is the Augsburg cuirre doré and crystal clock, supported on the head of a kneeling Atlas and surmounted by the standing figure of St. John the Baptist. A folding shrine, painted with scenes from the life of Christ, is concealed in the foot, and signed "Wilhelm Zoller." It comes from the collection of Count Raoul Hamilton, Oversholm, Skåne, Sweden.

A rare specimen of sixteenth century rock crystal is the small ewer, with episodes from the life of Neptune, and mounted in gilded silver.

The amateurs of French art will delight in two beautiful cuirvre doré and marble candlesticks of the Régence period which are exquisitely chiseled and of the highest quality.

A beautifully modeled gilded bronze group, in the form of a chubby cupid reclining and slumbering on the back of a dolphin, is by Nicolas Couston (French, 1650-1733).

A pair of alabaster vases, with the finest cuirvre doré mounts, are in the manner of Gouthière, and show the Louis XVI style in its noblest form.

Worthy of special attention is an imposing and unusual pair of French eighteenth century bronze, cuirvre doré and marble candlesticks from the collection of Count Stenbock of Sweden, who inherited them from Princess Sophia Albertina, sister of King Gustavus III.

Regal and of great value are the two cuirvre doré French vases of the Louis XVI period, with another, somewhat larger, fitted with a clock by Nils Berg, Stockholm. There is an identical vase, slightly smaller, in the Royal Swedish Collection.

A splendid example of the simpler type of Louis XVI clock is one of bronze and cuirvre doré, with a green bronze cupid, of which the dial is signed: "Courvoisier à Paris."

Both artistically and historically the cuirvre doré mounted marble clock by Barancourt is an item of the first importance. This fine timepiece was presented by the Emperor Napoleon to Marshal Ney, and is inscribed on the ball under the eagle at the top: "À M. Ney par L'Empereur."

The silver includes pieces both for collection and utility, and dates from the sixteenth to the late eighteenth century.

Regal and imposing are the two large silver tureens and covers which are monogrammed and dated 1794, and come from the Royal Danish House, of which they bear the crest.

Of extremely rare quality is the important French silver coffee-pot made by Jacques Léger in Paris in 1690.

Very fine, too, is the pair of eighteenth century French, urn-shaped silver "réchauffeurs" bearing the maker's monogram and other marks of identification.

Of great rarity and importance is the thirteenth century Mosul silver inlaid bronze candlestick, with medallions of royal figures interrupting minutely scrolled Cufic inscriptions, of which the letters at the top all terminate with human heads. It is signed on the interior lip, and was exhibited and reproduced in the catalogue of the Munich Exhibition of Mohammedan Art in 1910.

A Pentelic marble water jar, which is Arabic of the fourteenth century, is very interesting with its band of ornamental Cufic inscriptions, and is most graceful in form.

There are many splendid examples of European and Japanese textiles, but perhaps the most unusual in the collection are several pieces of Persian origin. Three very long Ispahan sixteenth century gold brocade table covers, woven of the pure metal thread and colored silks, are very beautiful and extremely rare.

There are also a number of very fine sixteenth century Asia Minor velvet panels, of which one of the most interesting has a design in red and soft green on a cream ground.

The extensive collection of ancient European and Oriental firearms, weapons and armor dating from the fifteenth to the eighteenth century includes a remarkable gathering of Japanese, Persian and European helmets, and many rare halberds, spontons, swords, guns, daggers, maces, stirrups and spurs which the owner has procured from famous European collections during years of study and searching.

And thus, with this wealth of material, Näsby Slott became a great show place in Sweden, and was enjoyed by many visitors, from their Majesties, the King and Queen of Sweden, to the simple peasants and villagers living on its domains. Great was the country's regret, as expressed through its daily newspapers, when it became known that the collection was being taken to America, and would be lost to the nation forever.

To have packed the entire contents of an ancient Swedish castle; to have these valuable contents transported, shipped, received, examined and catalogued, all in a little over three months, has been no easy task, but I am confident that with their presentation and display in your very beautiful and remarkably conducted American Art Galleries, and your subsequent management of the sale, you will neither disappoint Mr. Lamm nor shake his great confidence in the American public, which he has expressed by offering to it his acquisitions of a lifetime.

Faithfully yours,

(Signed) RUTH TESCHNER.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

I. Rejection of bids: Any bid which is not commensurate with the value of the article offered or which is merely a nominal or fractional advance may be rejected by the auctioneer if in his judgment such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.

II. The buyer: The highest bidder shall be the buyer, and if any dispute arises between two or more bidders, the auctioneer shall either decide the same or put up for re-sale the lot so in dispute.

III. Identification and part payment by buyer: The name of the buyer of each lot shall be given immediately on the sale thereof, and when so required, each buyer shall sign a card giving the lot number, amount for which sold, and his or her name and address.

Payment at the actual time of the sale shall be made of all or such part of the purchase prices as may be required.

If the two foregoing conditions are not complied with, the lot or lots so purchased may at the option of the auctioneer be put up again and re-sold.

IV. Risk after purchase: Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter neither the consignor nor the Association is responsible for the loss or any damage to any article occasioned by theft, fire, breakage or any other cause.

V. Delivery of purchases: Delivery of any purchases will be made only upon payment of the total amount due for all purchases at the sale.

Deliveries will be made at the place of sale or at the storage warehouse to which purchases may have been removed.

Deliveries at the American Art Galleries will be made only between the hours of 9 A. M. and 1 P. M. on sales' days and on other days—except holidays, when no deliveries will be made—between the hours of 9 A. M. and 5 P. M.

Deliveries at places of sale other than the American Art Galleries will be made only during the forenoon following the day of sale unless by special notice or arrangement to the contrary.

Deliveries at the storage warehouse to which goods may have been sent will be made on any day other than holidays between the hours of 9 and 5.

Deliveries of any purchases of small articles likely to be lost or mislaid may be made at the discretion of the auctioneer during the session of the sale at which they were sold.

VI. Storage in default of prompt payment and calling for goods: Articles not paid for in full and either not called for by the purchaser or delivered upon his or her order by noon of the day following that of the sale will be turned over by the Association to some carter to be carried to and stored in some warehouse until the time of the delivery therefrom to the purchaser, and the cost of such cartage and storage will be charged against the purchaser and the risk of loss or damage occasioned by such removal or storage will be upon the purchaser.

NOTE: The Limited space of the Delivery Rooms of the Association makes the above requirements necessary, and it is not alone for the benefit of the Association, but also for that of its patrons, whose goods otherwise would have to be so crowded as to be subject to damage and loss.

VII. Shipping: Shipping, boxing or wrapping of purchases is a business in which the Association is in no wise engaged, and will not be performed by the Association for purchasers. The Association will, however, afford to purchasers every facility for employing at current and reasonable rates carriers and packers; doing so, however, without any assumption of responsibility on its part for the acts and charges of the parties engaged for such service.

VIII. Guaranty: The Association exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly and endeavors therein and also at the actual time of sale to point out any error, defect or imperfection, but guaranty is not made either by the owner or the Association of the correctness of the description, genuineness, authenticity or condition of any lot and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing or imperfection not noted or pointed out. Every lot is sold "as is" and without recourse.

Every lot is on public exhibition one or more days prior to its sale, and the Association will give consideration to the opinion of any trustworthy expert to the effect that any lot has been incorrectly catalogued and in its judgment may thereafter sell the lot as catalogued or make mention of the opinion of such expert, who thereby will become responsible for such damage as might result were his opinion without foundation.

IX. Buying on order: Buying or bidding by the Association for responsible parties on orders transmitted to it by mail, telegraph or telephone will be faithfully attended to without charge or commission. Any purchases so made will be subject to the foregoing conditions of sale except that, in the event of a purchase of a lot of one or more books by or for a purchaser who has not through himself or his agent been present at the exhibition or sale, the Association will permit such lot to be returned within ten days from the date of sale and the purchase money will be refunded if the lot in any manner differs from its catalogue description.

Orders for execution by the Association should be written and given with such plainness as to leave no room for misunderstanding. Not only should the lot number be given, but also the title, and bids should be stated to be so much for the lot, and when the lot consists of one or more volumes of books or objects of art, the bid per volume or piece should also be stated. If the one transmitting the order is unknown to the Association, a deposit should be sent or references submitted. Shipping directions should also be given.

Priced Catalogues: Priced copies of the catalogue or any session thereof, will be furnished by the Association at charges commensurate with the duties involved in copying the necessary information from the records of the Association.

CATALOGUES OF PRIVATE COLLECTIONS

APPRAISALS AND CATALOGUES. Together with the increase in its exhibition and sales rooms, the American Art Association will expand its service of furnishing appraisements, under expert direction, of art and literary property, jewelry and all personal effects, in the settlement of estates, for inheritance tax, insurance and other purposes. It is prepared also to supplement this work by making catalogues of the contents of homes or of entire estates, such catalogues to be modelled after the finely and intelligently produced catalogues of the Association's own Sales.

The Association will furnish at request the names of many Trust and Insurance Companies, Executors, Administrators, Trustees, Attorneys and private individuals for whom the Association has made appraisements which have not only been entirely satisfactory to them, but have been accepted by the United States Revenue Department, State Comptroller and others in interest.

[Copy of letter to Mr. Carl Robert Lamm from His Excellency Captain Axel Wallenberg, Minister from Sweden to the United States of America]

ROYAL SWEDISH LEGATION
WASHINGTON, D. C.

December 15, 1922.

CARL ROBERT LAMM, Esquire,
Näsby Slott,
Roslags Näsby, Sweden.

My Dear Mr. Lamm: His Excellency, Minister Morris, at a public dinner a few days after his arrival in this country from his post in Stockholm, stated that Sweden had met with the misfortune of losing forever the fine pictures, tapestries, rugs, armor and other artistic objects which, for so many years, have furnished your home at Näsby, and which have given so many of us both pleasure and education in viewing.

To be sure, as Minister Morris said, "What is Sweden's loss is America's gain," and I have no doubt that the homes of many of America's well-to-do will be made more beautiful by their acquisitions from your treasures when Miss Teschner, who I have heard has brought the collection from Sweden with her, offers it for sale, which, I am told, will happen shortly.

At the same time, it is unfortunate that we can no longer have the pleasure of enjoying this collection as such, and more particularly that we can no longer see it in our own dear country.

May all be well with you, and now that definite plans have been made for the dispersal of your property, may it be attended with all success.

Faithfully yours,

(Signed) AXEL WALLENBERG.

344—COURT SWORD

Three-sided, rapier-blade, broad at top without ornamentation. Hilt, guard-hilt, with double-sided guard-plate (chape?) open-worked in rich foliage, guard engraved, and knob openworked as guard-plate; block plain of wood.

Length, 0.931 m.; blade length, 0.754 m.; breadth, 0.03 m.

345—SWORD

Sixteenth Century

Two-edged, with back, with engraved ornaments, a bird and a hand out of a cloud, holding a sword; and an inscription (Latin?) difficult to solve; hilt, guard-hilt of iron, with guard-plate (chape?), knob and guard with figures, horseman, fights, in high relief, block wound with iron-wire.

Length, 0.98 m.; blade length, 0.82 m.; breadth, 0.025 m.

Similar to a specimen in the Musée de Cluny, Paris.

346—SWORD

About 1700

Hilt of iron, tanshered (?) with silver in high relief in flower-ornaments and mascaroons on knob, hand-guard and guard-plate (chape?) The blade 4-sided with deep blood-channel at the top, and lettering on both sides.

Length, 102 cm.; blade, 1.47 cm.; breadth, 1.7 cm.

Note: Particularly handsome work. The blade hardly by Francisco Rinz in Toledo as the name has been so haphazardly applied.

347—COURT SWORD

Three-sided rapier-blade, without ornaments. Hilt, guard-hilt with double-sided guard-plate (chape?), guard and almond-shaped knob engraved with hunting scenes and ornaments, garlands, etc., in steel against gold-pricked ground; the block wound with steel and silver-wire.

Length, 0.957 m.; blade length, 0.789 m.; breadth, 0.019 m.

348—SWORD

Eighteenth Century

Two-edged, with plain engraved ornaments; hilt, guard-hilt of steel, richly openworked and engraved, knob guard and double-sided guard plate (chape?); block wound with steel-wire. End of eighteenth century. Handsome work.

Length, 0.985 m.; blade length, 0.763 m.; breadth, 0.08 m.

349—SWORD (Sabel)

India

Crooked, one-edged, with back with traces of gold-inlay. Hilt with short chape, small block, and large flat knobs of iron inlaid with gold and silver in naturalistic flower-pattern.

Length, 0.886 m.; blade length, 0.77 m.; breadth, 0.038 m.

350—SWORD

German, 1670

Hilt of iron made blue, engraved in foliage on the knob, guard and chape; the guard also openworked and decorated with medallions with the head of a man; block wound with brass-wire (original). Blade with back, at the top etched with horseman in costume from the midst of the seventeenth century; there above a Roman warrior. Inscription above the latter on one side: Rom-Trojanus (?) on the other side quite indistinct; inscription above the horseman on one side: Tor te Domino non compundan Res parva crescunt, Discordia Res magna dilabuntur.

Length, 93 cm.; blade length, 76 cm.; breadth, 2.5 cm.

351—SWORD

Mid-seventeenth Century

Two-edged, with back, without ornamentation. Hilt of steel, with double-sided guard-plate (?) (chape?) openworked in foliage and with two medallions with grotesque heads of women, short spiral-grooved chape, ball-shaped knob with heads of women as on the plate, and block wound with iron-wire spiral-grooved.

Length, 1.002 m.; blade length, 0.839 m.; breadth, 0.023 m.

352—COURT SWORD

Earlier half Eighteenth Century

Six-sided, with etched ornaments at the top. Hilt, guard-hilt with double-sided guard-plate (?) (chape?) guard and ball-shaped knob, engraved in figure scenes with horsemen, women, etc., in steel; block wound with steel-wire.

Length, 0.884 m.; blade length, 0.722 m.; breadth, 0.017 m.

*Kindly read the Conditions under which every item is offered and sold.
They are printed in the forepart of the Catalogue.*

353—COURT SWORD

Three-sided rapier-blade, upper part made blue, with ornaments etched and gilded. Hilt, guard-hilt with double-sided guard-plate (?) (chape?), guard, and almond-shaped knob with engraved and gilded ornaments, flower-sprays and oval fields with trophy-bunches against dark ground; the block wound with silver-wire with crosses stamped in and cords.

Also two scabbard mountings.

Length, 1.004 m.; blade length, 0.839 m.; breadth, 0.023 m.

(Illustrated)

354—SWORD

Eighteenth Century

Three-sided (or 3-angular) with blood-channels, at the top etchings, trophies and rococo-ornaments, gilded. Hilt, guard-hilt of silver, with pear-shaped knob, openworked in rosettes, chape, double-sided guard-plate also openworked, and block wound with silver-wire.

Length, 0.985 m.; blade length, 0.822 m.; breadth, 0.02 m.

(Illustrated)

355—SWORD

Early Seventeenth Century

Basket-hilt of iron, with concentric guards, and straight chape with knob-shaped ends. Blade with offset and blood-channel, with, on both sides: IOHAN. Thin, flat back.

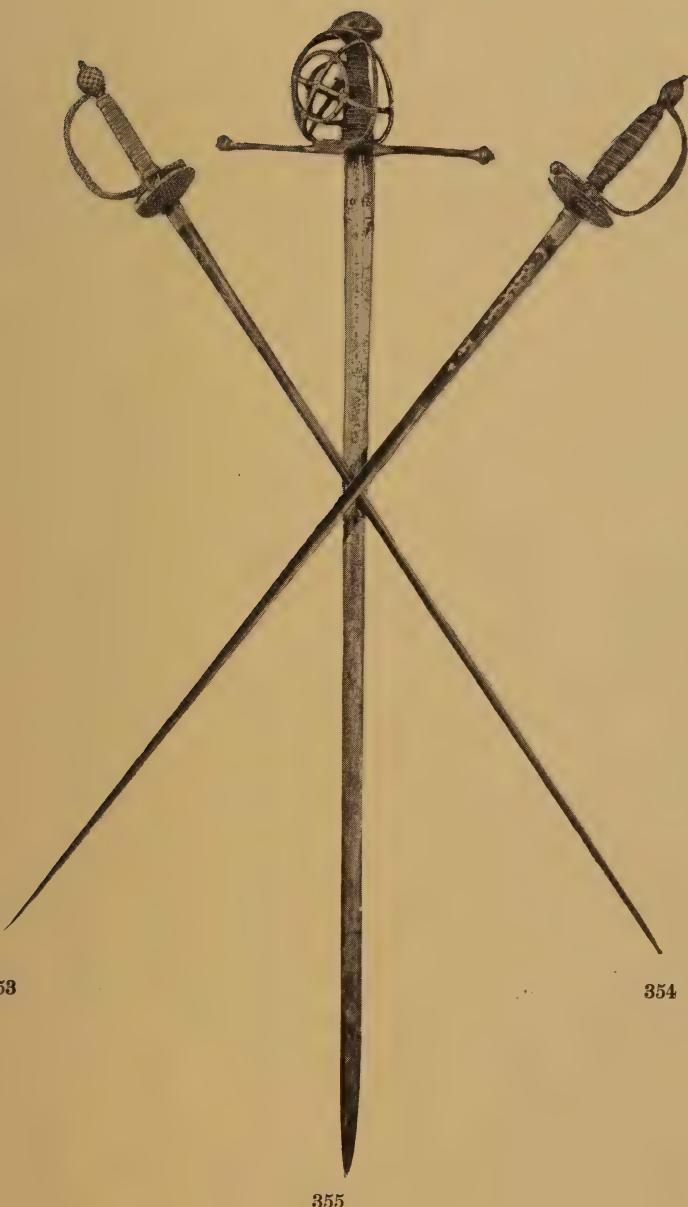

Length, 106 cm.; blade length, 93 cm.; breadth, 2.8 cm.

(Illustrated)

356—COURT SWORD

Six-sided, rather broad at top, upper part with etched leaf-ornaments. Hilt, guard-hilt with double-sided guard-plate (?) (chape?), guard and ball-shaped knob, engraved with rococo-ornaments, trophies, musical instruments, gardening tools, globe and scientific instruments in steel against gold-pricked ground; block wound with gold and steel-wire.

355

SEVENTEENTH AND EIGHTEENTH CENTURY SWORDS

*Kindly read the Conditions under which every item is offered and sold.
They are printed in the forepart of the Catalogue.*

25
357—COURT SWORD

Latter half Eighteenth Century

Narrow, evenly broad, one side plain, the other with back. Hilt, guard-hilt of silver, openworked in small facets, double-sided guard-plate (chape?) to one side downward bent to the other side upward bent, knob egg-shaped, block four-sided, wound with small garlands of roses and leaves engraved in silver, guard-plate (chape?) and knob with similar decoration.

Length, 0.86 m.; blade length, 0.7 m.; breadth, 0.011 m.

358—COURT SWORD

Three-sided, broad at top, with etched and gilded rococo-ornaments, the point rust-damaged. Hilt, guard-hilt of steel, with double-sided guard-plate (chape?) and ball-shaped knob, extraordinarily well engraved in rococo-ornaments and flowers against gold-pricked foundation, block, thick, wound with gilded and twined silver-wire.

Length, 0.985 m.; blade length, 0.821 m.; breadth, 0.025 m.

359—SWORD

55
Hilt of iron, cross-shaped with rounded block and chape and round knob and chape-end; smithed in two pieces, brazed together at the foot of the block; plain lines and dots stamped in. The blade 4-sided at the top $\frac{1}{2}$ turn wound round; ornaments stamped in.

Note: Peculiar weapon, the whole character of which points to the sixteenth century, but hardly can be looked upon as an original sword. I believe the blade has belonged to a so called rod-weapon. Observe the weight of the blade. Probably from Steyermark.

360—COURT SWORD

Three-sided rapier-blade fairly broad at the top, upper part with etched ornaments and trophies. Hilt, guard-hilt with double-sided guard-plate (chape?) and ball-shaped knob, engraved in rococo-ornaments with roses and leaves in steel against gold-pricked ground; the block wound with copper-wire.

Length, 0.949 m.; blade length, 0.782 m.; breadth, 0.025 m.

Second Afternoon

361—SWORD

German, 1730

Hilt of colored brass, engraved in partly openworked rococo-ornaments, with silver-plated medallions, in which trophies, musical instruments, agricultural tools, etc. The block wound with copper-wire. Blade (so called Apostle-blade) along the whole of its length etched in figures of the Apostles and underneath inscriptions, on one side: "Ne me tire pas sans raison," on the other: "Ne me remette point sans honneur."

Length, 86 cm.; blade length, 79 cm.; breadth, 1.9 cm.

362—SWORD

Six-sided with plain engraved ornaments; hilt, guard-hilt of partly gilded bronze with openworked pear-shaped knob, double-sided openworked guard-plate (chape?) and guard; the block wound with silver-wire, Louis XVI.

With guard-hilt court-sword, length, 1.004 m.; blade length, 0.84 m.; breadth, 0.022 m.

363—SWORD

German, 1730

Hilt of colored brass, engraved in strong but fairly coarse rococo-ornaments, on knob, block, chapes and guard. Blade (somewhat rust-damaged) with flat back, at the top etched ornaments.

Length, 86 cm.; blade length, 71.5 cm.; breadth, 2 cm.

364—DAGGER

Italian Sixteenth Century

Hilt with oval, black many-sided knob, iron-wire-wound block and C-shaped downward bent chape with thumb-ring. Blade two-edged with long blood-channel. Smith stamped (3 times on each side).

Length, 67 cm.; blade length, 53.5 cm.; breadth, 4.3 cm.

Note: North Italian work from sixteenth century. Rare size.

365—SWORD

Italian Sixteenth Century

Hilt of iron with downward bent chape finished in prismatic knobs. Oval knob, spiral-grooved wood block. Blade with short narrow point, two-edged with high back and suddenly narrowing towards the point. Smith stamp.

Length, 121 cm.; blade length, 110 cm.; breadth, 2.5 cm.

Note: Rare and elegant shape. Similar specimen in the Arsenal at Venice.

*Kindly read the Conditions under which every item is offered and sold.
They are printed in the forepart of the Catalogue.*

210
366—SWORD WITH BASKET-HILT Italian, End of Sixteenth Century

Very long, narrow four-sided blood-channel and hole at the top. Hilt, basket-hilt of iron, richly openworked in foliage, straight, long chape, iron-wire-wound capsule; narrow guard and knob openworked as basket. Italian duelling-sword, Spanish blade.

Length, 1.25 m.; blade length, 1.04 m.; breadth, 0.018 m.

367—PANACHE

Swedish

Hilt of colored, engraved brass, with hand-guard (engraved at bottom) and mountings on the ivory-block in shape of dolphin-head. Blade with knife-back, at the top made blue and gilded. Carl XIV Johans and the crown-prince Oskar's names (letters) and "Three Crowns" and the arms of Norway. Scabbard of black leather with colored brass-mountings, engraved: "Three Crowns" and emblems of the Navy.

Length, 91.5 cm.; blade length, 79 cm.; breadth, 2.3 cm.

Note: Swedish navy-officer's weapon from the reign of Carl Johan.

25
368—SWORD (Sabel)

Beginning of Nineteenth Century

Hilt of gilded, engraved brass with lion's head knob, block, wound with copper-wire. Blade with knife back, towards the point two-edged. Scabbard of leather, mostly color-covered, engraved brass-mountings (trophies).

Length, 95 cm.; blade length, 82 cm.; breadth, 2.5 cm.

210
369—COURT SWORD

Six-sided, plain at top with etched ornaments and figures. Hilt, guard-hilt of gilded silver with double-sided guard- (plate?), round chape, knob somewhat pressed together from the sides and spool-shaped block richly engraved and pricked in rococo-ornaments, mussels and strapwork (?).

Length, 0.923 m.; blade length, 0.773 m.; breadth, 0.02 m.

370—SWORD

Two-edged six-sided, with two short blood-channels in which gilded etchings and signature: TOMAS AYALA. Hilt, guard-hilt of gilded bronze, richly engraved in rococo-ornaments; handsome work.

With guard-hilt court-sword, length, 1.009 m.; blade length, 0.849 m.; breadth, 0.023 m.

Second Afternoon

371—SWORD

Nineteenth Century

Hilt in cross-shape, of gilded, cast, and engraved brass, with mother-of-pearl covered block (one side defective). Blade with knife back to half of its length, and made blue, and gilded. Scabbard of black leather with coarse gilded brass mountings.

Length, 95.5 cm.; blade length, 81.5 cm.; breadth, 1.9 cm.

Note: Civilian uniform-sword from nineteenth century.

372—COURT SWORD

Six-sided, two-edged, pointed upper part etched and gilded ornaments, and a medallion with Roman warrior-head, underneath which incrusted: RECTE FACIENDO-NEMINEM TIMEAS. Hilt guard-hilt with double-sided guard-plate (?) guard and ball-shaped knob with finely engraved ornaments in rococo-style flowers and figures Neptune with trident, etc., in steel against gold-pricked ground; block wound with gold and silver-wire.

Length, 0.9 m.; blade length, 0.733 m.; breadth, 0.018 m.

373—SWORD

Two-edged, with back, richly engraved and gilded with leaf-ornaments and trophies; hilt in cross-shape of gilded, richly engraved brass, knob in shape of a Roman helmet; scabbard with gilded brass-mountings and signed: Salter (Sivard Catler & Jeveller) to H.R.H. the (Duke of Sussex) 35 Strand, London. Empire work.

Length, 0.94 m.; blade length, 0.78 m.; breadth, 0.02 m.

374—SWORD

Earlier half of Seventeenth Century

Hilt of iron with slightly S-shaped chape, guards and branched hand-chape; oval six-sided knob, coarsely stamped; iron-wire-wound (new) block. Blade with weak back, two-edged, at the top etched on both sides in ornaments, the inscription SOLI DEO GLORIA and smith-stamps.

Length, 107 cm.; blade length, 90 cm.; breadth, 4 cm.

Note: Solinger-work from the earlier half of the seventeenth century. The first mark (or stamp) was to be found (also in etching) on a sword in Furst Schwarzenberg's collection; the second is unknown to me. Johannes Wirsberg died 1640. The "Prisoner" was used as stamp by Wilhelm and Clemens Wirsberg.

*Kindly read the Conditions under which every item is offered and sold.
They are printed in the forepart of the Catalogue.*

60
375—SWORD

Early Seventeenth Century

Hilt of iron with S-shaped chape and guard; oval knob, block wound around with brass-wire. The blade evenly broad with long offset and then two deep blood-channels till quite near the point. On the offset inlaid with copper on both sides: x WILHELM x WIRSBERG x.

Length, 106 cm.; blade length, 90 cm.; breadth, 2.8 cm.

Note: Solinger work by Wilhelm Wirsberg, Jr., in 1620's. See previous No. 374.

45
376—RAPIER

About Seventeenth Century

Hilt of iron with traces of gilding. Strongly S-shaped chape finished in grooved urn-shaped knobs, upturned openworked heart-shaped guard. Urn-shaped grooved knob; iron-wire-wound block. Blade with back, flamberge. Trace of smith-stamp

Length, 109 cm.; blade length, 94 cm.; breadth, 2.5 cm.

Note: Elegant parade-sword from about 1600 (the hilt has a shape usual to daggers). On the guard a filling screwed on in later times from a sword of the end of seventeenth century.

377—CURVED SABRE

Earlier half of Seventeenth Century

Hilt of same type as No. 355, though with broader and more freely arranged chapes, with leaf-ornaments stamped in. Blade with knife-back. Smith-stamp.

Length, 98 cm.; blade length, 84 cm.; breadth, 4 cm.

Note: Handsome possibly Steyric weapon from the earlier half of the seventeenth century.

378—SWORD

German, 1630-1650

Hilt of iron, with heart-shaped chape, tin-ring and hand-guard, oval somewhat engraved knob, and iron-wire wound (new) block. Blade, two-edged, with broad blood-channel, with lettering on both sides.

Length, 95 cm.; blade length, 82 cm.; breadth, 3.2 cm.

Note: The inscription is characteristic of the mass-production of the seventeenth century (can be: In te Domine speravi non confundar).

Second Afternoon

379—SWORD WITH SHEATH

Chinese

Two-edged with a blood-channel. Hilt with block of black grooved horn, inlaid with mother-of-pearl, knob and short chape with richly engraved silver-mountings, sheath of black wood, with mountings similar to those of the hilt.

Length, 0.875 m.; blade length, 0.56 m.; breadth, 0.032 m.

380—SWORD

Beginning of Seventeenth Century

Hilt of iron with iron hand-chape and rich guards. Large, flattened, grooved knob; block special-grooved, iron-wire-wound. Blade with long offset faintly six-sided and with deep blood-channel. Smith-stamp.

Length, 121 cm.; blade length, 105.5 cm.; breadth, 2.2 cm.

Note: Handsome Spanish blade; the stamp said to be by Kugnel Cantero (the 1560's) though the blade and the hilt are most likely from about 1600.

381—SWORD

Beginning of Seventeenth Century

Hilt of iron with S-shaped chape, oval openworked plate, thumb-ring, flat pear-shaped knob and iron-wire-wound block. On knob and chape ornaments engraved and stamped. Blade evenly broad, two-edged with three narrow blood-channels down towards the point. Smith-stamp.

Length, 94 cm.; blade length, 79 cm.; breadth, 3.4 cm.

Note: Probably Spanish work from the beginning of the seventeenth century; the stamp at least reminds one very much of the Spanish from that time (see No. 380).

382—SWORD

Earlier half of Seventeenth Century

Hilt as No. 381 with traces of gilding. The blade two-edged with flat back. Smith-stamp.

Length, 108.5 cm.; blade length, 94 cm.; breadth, 3 cm.

Note: The stamp has Spanish character most like "Juanes" the elder in Toledo in the sixteenth century. The name IVANNI is generally accompanied by the stamps of Juan Wartinez; probably it is altogether a German (?) imitation.

*Kindly read the Conditions under which every item is offered and sold.
They are printed in the forepart of the Catalogue.*

383—SWORD WITH BASKET-HILT

Seventeenth Century

At the point two-edged, with two blood-channels, nearest the blade openworked; hilt basket-hilt with long S-shaped chape, one-sided basket of four guards and openworked plate; not fastened to the knob, thumb ring and eight-sided half-sphere-shaped knob, the block wound with brass-wire. Blade stamped in copper inlay.

Length, 0.867 m.; blade length, 0.725 m.; breadth, 0.038 m.

384—CURVED SABRE

Seventeenth Century

Hilt of iron, with mussel-shaped guard, openworked and engraved in three heads on pricked foundation; handguard and knob-lamina also engraved; the block wound with brass-wire (new). Blade with knife-back, two-edged towards the broader point. Decorated towards the hilt on both sides with figures of men in rich costumes from the 1640's.

Length, 75 cm.; blade length, 62.5 cm.; breadth, 3.2 m.

385—SWORD

German Seventeenth Century

Basket-hilt of iron with openworked guards, double chapes, guard-chape and hand chape. Oval knob. Block spiral-wound and wound with brass-wire. Blade with long offset, evenly broad, broad blood-channel in which "Ulf" between "Balls of the Kingdom." Smith-stamp.

Length, 102 cm.; blade length, 83 cm.; breadth, 3.3 cm.

386—RAPIER

1617-1627

Hilt of iron, made blue, with oval upward turned, openworked and engraved guards, hand-chape and oval knob with ornaments stamped in; iron-wire wound block; blade two-edged with long offset; lettering on both sides in copper inlay.

Length, 104 cm.; blade length, 87 cm.; breadth, 2 cm.

Note: Handsome work by the Solinger-smith Peter Wirsberg (mayor in Solingen 1617-27).

Second Afternoon

387—SWORD

Spanish Seventeenth Century

Two-edged blade with short blood-channel, with lettering on both sides. Hilt, guard-hilt with straight chape, large plain concave guard-plate (?) and narrow guard; knob with deep vertical grooves; block of wood.

Length, 0.97 m.; blade length, 0.79 m.; breadth, 0.041 m.

388—CURVED SABRE

Seventeenth Century

Basket-hilt with rich guards and S-shaped chape with lines stamped in. Four-sided knob, leather-covered block. Blade with knife-back and two-edged point. Signs of stamp.

Length, 94 cm.; blade length, 81 cm.; breadth, 3.6 cm.

Note: Belongs to a type of weapons from the middle of the seventeenth century which often appears in Norwegian collections.

389—CURVED SABRE (Sabel)

Seventeenth Century

Hilt as No. 388, though with iron-wire-wound block. Blade also as No. 388. Smith-stamp.

Length, 98 cm.; blade length, 81 cm.; breadth, 3.4 cm.

Note: See No. 388.

390—CURVED SABRE

Hilt of same type as No. 388, though with rounded knob, with plait-like engraving, straight chape and iron-wire-wound block. Blade same as No. 388.

Length, 98.5 cm.; blade length, 86.5 cm.; breadth, 4 cm.

391—SWORD

Spanish Seventeenth Century

Two-edged blade with short blood-channel in which EN + MEME. Hilt, guard-hilt with straight chape, large plain, concave guard-plate (?) and narrow guard, pressed half-sphere-shaped with vertical grooves; block vertical grooved and wound with iron wire.

Length, 1.017 m.; blade length, 0.826 m.; breadth, 0.04 m.

392—SWORD (Sabel)

Persian

Crooked, one-edged, finely damaskeened and with letters in gold-incrustments; hilt with straight chape and plain block of dark-brown horn, at bottom wound with silver-wire; sheath of wood, covered with black pressed leather, partly fallen off.

Length, 0.96 m.; blade length, 0.83 m.; breadth, 0.035 m.

*Kindly read the Conditions under which every item is offered and sold.
They are printed in the forepart of the Catalogue.*

393—SWORD

Caucasian

Straight one-edged at the top and point two-edged, with a blood-channel, damaskeened. Hilt plain of black horn; on the right hand side with two cylindric knobs; possibly a kind of bayonette.

Length, 0.619 m.; blade length, 0.46 m.; breadth, 0.055 m.

394—SWORD (Epée Wallon)

Hilt of iron with mussel-shaped guard and branched hand-chapes; knob and guard with faintly engraved foliage. The blade evenly broad with broad blood-channel, and lettered on both sides.

Length, 92 cm.; blade length, 77 cm.; breadth, 31 cm.

Note: The hilt points to 1630-40. A sword with the similar signature on the blade in the Arsenal in Berlin is said to be from the beginning of the seventeenth century though.

395—SWORD (Epée Wallon)

Seventeenth Century

Hilt of same type as No. 394, the block wound with plaits of brass. Blade at top slightly six-sided afterwards with center-back. At the top on both sides etched in head with turban, ornaments and the inscriptions Soli Deo Gloria Inc (?) pe-cit-t Augusta.

Length, 103 m.; blade length, 89 cm.; breadth, 3.8 cm.

Note: Handsome blade, the rather indistinct inscription seems to be Augsburg's make (Augusta), the 1650's.

396—SWORD

Earlier half Seventeenth Century

Hilt of iron with branched hand-chape and guard; oblong six-sided knob; the block wound with iron- and brass-wire. The blade evenly broad with flat back, at the top inlaid with undulating ornament.

Length, 114 cm.; blade length, 97.5 cm.; breadth, 3.2 cm.

397—SWORD

1670-80

Handsome military sword from this period. Hilt of gilded brass, cast and engraved in men's heads, genii and rich ornaments; the block wound with silver-plated wire. Stab-blade, narrow, long with deep blood-channel with letters stamped in.

Collection Von Post, Graz.

398

399

398—SWORD (Schiavona)

Seventeenth Century

Hilt of iron with rich guards. Knob of brass widened at the top; special-grooved wood block. Blade evenly broad with blood-channel at the top and then (slanting) center back.

Length, 105 cm.; blade length, 91 cm.; breadth, 4.2 cm.

399—SWORD (Schiavona)

Hilt as 398, though with original knob, and original leather-block, and talon-protection of leather. Blade one-edged, with stamp and diverse ornaments hammered in.

Collection Von Post, Graz.

Note: Uncommonly handsome Schiavona-type Stamp generally ascribed to an unknown Milano smith, probably here refers to Belluus make.

400—SWORD WITH GUARD-HILT

Two-edged six-sided blade with short blood-channel, in which Ulf-mark (or stamp); offset with stamp; hilt, guard-hilt with strongly downward bent chape and small mussel-shaped guard-plate and free 3-shaped hand-guard, egg-shaped knob and block, wound with brass wire.

Length, 0.927 m.; blade length, 0.775 m.; breadth, 0.028 m.

*Kindly read the Conditions under which every item is offered and sold.
They are printed in the forepart of the Catalogue.*

401—SWORD (Sabel)

Turkish

Crooked, one-edged blade; hilt with straight chape and mountings of engraved silver, block of ivory, sheath of silver, with rich engraved and gilded flower-ornaments and mountings of engraved silver similar to those of the hilt.

Length, 0.98 m.; blade length, 0.82 m.; breadth, 0.03 m.

402—SWORD

Earlier half Seventeenth Century

Hilt of iron with guard system of Schiavona type; particularly well made. Knob pear-shaped, spiral-grooved, block leather-covered. Blade evenly broad with, on both sides, short blood-channels,

HANS ADAM.

Length, 90 cm.; blade length, 74 cm.; breadth, 4 cm.

Note: The hilt seems to be put together of pieces not originally belonging together; the "basket" rare as to shape and ornamentation (similar at Egerton Castle and in the Northern Museum at Stockholm, the latter one from Norway). Naming of the blade unknown to me. All parts from earlier half of seventeenth century.

403—CURVED SABRE

Dalmatian, Early Seventeenth Century

Hilt of iron with down bent chape, hand- and chape-guards, all of which are ornamented here and there by spiral-grooved knobs; the block, 8-sided, leather covered with lamina. The blade slightly bent with knife-back and two-edged point; along the back on one side ornaments. Smith-stamp.

Length, 81 cm.; blade length, 69 cm.; breadth, 3.2 cm.

Note: Earlier half of seventeenth century. Possibly Dalmatian or similar make.

404—SWORD (Sabel)

Indian-Spanish

Broad, flat, two-edged blade at top inscription on one side: EIOAN 1612; on the other side SVARES 1612. Hilt, guard-hilt with double-sided guard-plate from which tongues down the blade, broad hand-guard, as the plate on the inside covered with dark green velvet, large concave knob with a bent horn-like point, all parts richly encrusted with gold in flower-ornaments; block wound with iron and silver-wire. Scabbard of green velvet with gold incrustments on chape. Blade Spanish; hilt Indian.

Length, 1.082 m.; blade length, 0.86 m.; breadth, 0.042 m.

GUNS

405—WHEEL-LOCK GUN (Carabine) 1650

Barrel 8-sided browned. Smith-stamp. Lock with completely covered wheel, engraved with flowers and signed Johan Kvach, Sulla. Guard with three-finger support and screw head in the shape of a resting fox. Stock of hard wood with inlaid flower-rosettes and, on cover, mermaid.

Length, 98 cm.; barrel length, 70 cm.; 8-grooved 17 mm. caliber; loose inner barrel, 6-grooved, 11 mm. caliber.

Note: Suhl-fabrication (Sulla-Suhl) from the 1650's. Also the barrel stamp belonged (according to signature f. et. in Schwartzberg's collection) to a Suhl smith, and can possibly, judging from the lock signature, be of some other member of the family Kvach. The double-barrels are rather rare; the gun, especially the iron parts, good workmanship.

406—GUN (Carabine) German Eighteenth Century

With flint-lock, altered to percussion (?). The barrel 8-sided made blue, inlaid in silver and some gold in deer hunt on horse-back, and at the muzzle ring and powder-chamber lambrequins. 7-grooved. Lock-plate engraved in hunting-scene on gold ground. Stock of walnut with some baroque carvings; at the shoulder "star" in ivory and ebony, drawer-lid missing. Mountings of engraved brass. Tail-screw stamp: 7 guard V.

Note: German (Thüringerwork), about 1700.

407—GUN (Standbüchse) 1730-1750

With wheel-lock. The barrel 8-angular, signed in silver, FR. NEGELEAMUNCHEN, and "heart-stamp" 7-grooved. Lock (large) altogether engraved in roccoco ornaments. Stock of walnut (coarse) roccoco carvings. Plain brass mountings, guard with finger support.

408—FLINT-LOCK GUN German, 1730-1750

DUTCH: 1600—1670

557—LANDSCAPE AND FIGURES

(Panel)

150

Height, 9 1/4 inches; length, 12 3/4 inches

At right the bend of a river crossed in the middle distance by a brick bridge of two round arches, and at left in the foreground two Dutchmen standing in the gray road which winds between green grassy edges along the border of the stream. Two other figures are standing on the bridge, and in front of it a man is seated in a boat. In the background trees and ancient buildings.

Signed on the boat, SvR, 1667.

MADEMOISELLE PHILIBERTE LEDOUX

FRENCH: 1767—1840

(Has been attributed to Greuze)

558—PORTRAIT OF A CHILD

Height, 16 inches; width, 12½ inches

HEAD and shoulders of a bright-faced child, inclined to smile; observed in back view, with head turned across right shoulder so that the face appears three-quarters full. Hazel eyes and golden hair, and rosy cheeks. Brown jacket striped in emerald and shot with golden lights, over a white lawn frock, and about the shoulders a dark scarf.

In a letter on the back, dated 1904, E. M. Hodgkins, the London art dealer, expresses his belief that the painting is by Greuze, and a good example.

FRENCH SCHOOL

EIGHTEENTH CENTURY

559—HEAD OF A MAN

(Oval)

Height, 18 inches; width, 14¾ inches

BUST portrait of a man of advanced years, with grayish hair and encroaching baldness, full and florid face and firmly held mouth, and dark and steady eyes. He faces slightly to the right, with eyes turned upon the observer. White stock and jabot, waistcoat of greenish tone banded in brown, and grayish coat with large gilt buttons.

WILHELM LEIBL

GERMAN: 1844—1900

560—STUDY OF A HEAD

Height, 13 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches; width, 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches

HEAD and shoulders portrait of a comparatively young woman of serious aspect, to left, three-quarters front, before a nebulous, slightly reddish background. Brown eyes directed at the observer. She has dark hair, brought up to a broad and braided knot on top of her head, with a slightly curling fringe over the forehead, and wears a dark waist with a suggestion of black lace at the throat.

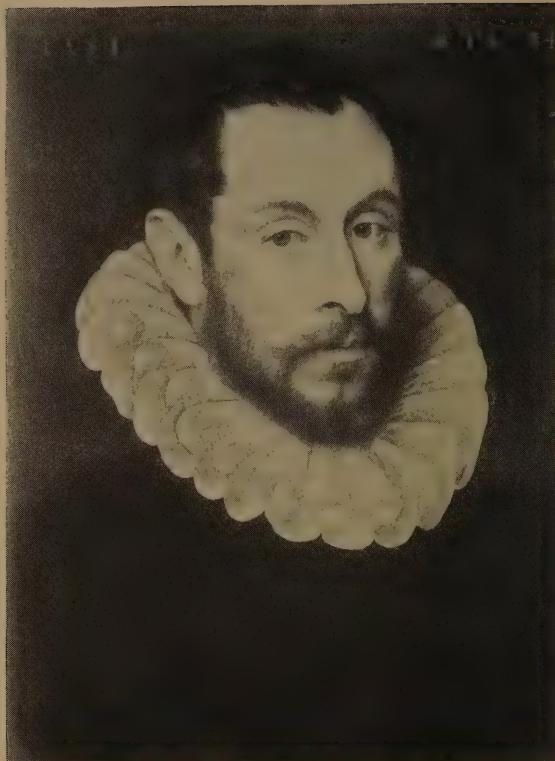

ANTOINE COYPEL

FRENCH: 1661—1722

561—DE DIFFICILE DÉFAITE

Height, 16 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches; length, 18 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches

AGAINST a background of trees under a blue sky with shifting clouds, a Venus, partly nude and half-reclining on rose draperies, pines, sighs and pleads with a youthful warrior-hero in helmet and coat-of-mail and carrying a leopard skin, to abide with love against the urgings to other conquerings, which are seconded by two of his helmeted warriors whom he starts to accompany to fields of duty. Apparently a scene from Alexandrian legend, in the style popular with Coypel and his contemporaries, or perhaps from the Aeneid, representing Aeneas quitting Dido.

ADRIAN THOMAS KEY

FLEMISH: SIXTEENTH CENTURY

562—PORTRAIT OF SIR WALTER RALEIGH
AT THE AGE OF THIRTY-FOUR

(Oak Panel)

Height, 20 inches; width, 15 inches

HEAD and shoulders, slightly to right. Dark hair, short, and carelessly arranged. High forehead, already broadly seamed; large and thoughtful brown eyes; finely chiseled nose. Moustache and beard reddish-brown. White ruff in rolling and open folds. Dark costume of rich material.

Inscribed at upper left: 1585; at upper right: AETA 34.

A painting by this artist in the museum at Antwerp is signed: "Adrianus Thomae Keii, fecit, 1575."

563—PORTRAIT OF AN OLD WOMAN

(Said to be the artist's mother-in-law)

(Panel)

Height, 19 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches; width, 16 inches

HEAD and shoulders, to front, the head turned very slightly to the sitter's right, the sunken and filmy eyes directed upon the observer. A woman of hard-working life and rugged features now seamed, with the hollowed cheeks and retracted lips of toothless age, yet preserving on her cheeks the flush of rosy color. A high and strong light on her features from directly above. Gray hair bound by a white band; white underwaist and lace collar-edging coming to view within her plain and simple jacket of dark olive tones. Dark background.

FRENCH: 1679—1752

564—L'AMOUR

Height, 16 inches; width, 11½ inches

ON a marble seat at a fountain enclosure within a French park, two lovers are enjoying a tryst, the young lady in a rose-pink gown and a white lace cap tied with blue ribbon, who is partly reclining, and the youthful beau more soberly clad, in court clothes, leaning toward her with ardent declarations. They are admonished by a sympathetic lady who leans over a balustrade giving upon their retreat, with a cautionary gesture and the suggestion of other presences in the green forest.

DUTCH: 1572—1657

612—PORTRAIT OF A LADY

(Panel)

Height, 27 1/4 inches; width, 21 1/2 inches

HALF-LENGTH, seated, face and figure slightly to the left. A suave young matron, slightly whimsical of expression, with dark brown eyes and faint eyebrows, and pinkish cheeks. Light brown hair dressed with pearls; pearl earrings and necklace, and a double rope of pearls supporting a golden pendant. Black gown with figured ornamentation, and a deep and elaborate collar of intricately worked white lace, which extends to below her shoulders and all across her breast, fitting tightly at the neck. Dark background.

Signed at the upper right, JR (monogram) 163...

From the Galerie Sedelmeyer, Paris.

NICOLAS LARGILLIÈRE

FRENCH: 1690—1743

613—PORTRAIT OF A GENTLEMAN

Height, 31 3/4 inches; width, 25 1/4 inches

PORTRAIT at once bold and sympathetic of a fine looking young man with large brown eyes and an affable expression and the bloom of health, figure to left and face three-quarters front. He wears a large gray periwig, a coat of vague emerald with a fine white lace collar, and is enwrapped in the full folds of a rich red mantle. He appears at half-length before a conventional and indeterminate landscape background of dark neutral tones.

Signed at left, well above the bottom, N. LARGILLIÈRE.

Expertised by Gaston Neumanns, Paris.

BERNHARD STRIEGEL

GERMAN: (circa) 1461—1528

614—PORTRAIT OF A YOUNG NOBLEMAN IN PLUMED CAP

(Panel)

Height, 13 inches; width, 9 inches

HALF-LENGTH figure of a man of large features, clean shaven, and with reddish-blond hair banged, and at the sides of his face worn long in finely curled strands which reach to his shoulders. He wears a black cap of the fifteenth-sixteenth century type, girdled with red flowers and supporting overhanging white plumes. He is facing the left, three-quarters front, with a most serious expression, and in his left hand which is held across his breast carries daintily between thumb and ringed forefinger a small bouquet. He wears an orange cloak heavily trimmed with black, over a thin tunic of light material in rose and white, adorned by a white dove with spread wings. Red background, with 1 5 0 2 in ornamental figures at the upper left.

Certified by Dr. M. T. Friedländer, Kaiser Friedrich Museum, Berlin, who declared it very valuable, being of early date; the museum has none so early.

PETER PAUL RUBENS

FLEMISH: 1577—1640

615—PORTRAIT OF A YOUNG MAN

(Panel)

Height, 19½ inches; width, 16¼ inches

HEAD and shoulders of a youth who is sprouting a moustache, lip tuft and the suggestions of a beard, with reddish hair, raised eyebrows and a scarred forehead. He faces the right, three-quarters front, and gazes with the aspect of a scowl at the spectator. Figured black velvet tunic and brown sleeves. Neck encircled by a ribbon-fluted white ruff. Dark background.

Inscribed at right, above eye-level: A P 16... AETATIS ..

*From the Collection de Cornelissen, Brussels, March 29-30, 1891;
No. 78.*

Expertised by Dr. Bode, in 1916, who says it was painted between 1613 and 1615.

Reproduced in Emile Verhaeren's "Rubens," 1917.

JACQUES LOUIS DAVID

FRENCH: 1748—1825

616—PORTRAIT OF MONSIEUR SEDAINE

(Michel Jean Sedaine, French dramatist, 1719-1797)

(Oval)

Height, 21 1/4 inches; width, 17 1/2 inches

BUST portrait of a middle aged man of dramatic aspect, figure to left, face turned three-quarters front, right hand brought to the wide lapel of his coat at the breast. He is clean shaven and his gray hair is brushed straight back from his high forehead and shows curls above the ears and at the back. Blue eyes bent quizzically upon the observer. Gray coat with broad collar, and a glimpse of a soft white lace collar or neck cloth. Neutral grayish background with a hinted warming of dull mauve.

Certified by Mr. G. Sortais, official expert of Paris, “près le Tribunal de la Seine.”

Exhibited at the “Exposition David et ses Élèves,” at the Palais des Beaux Arts in Paris, 1913, and at other public exhibitions.

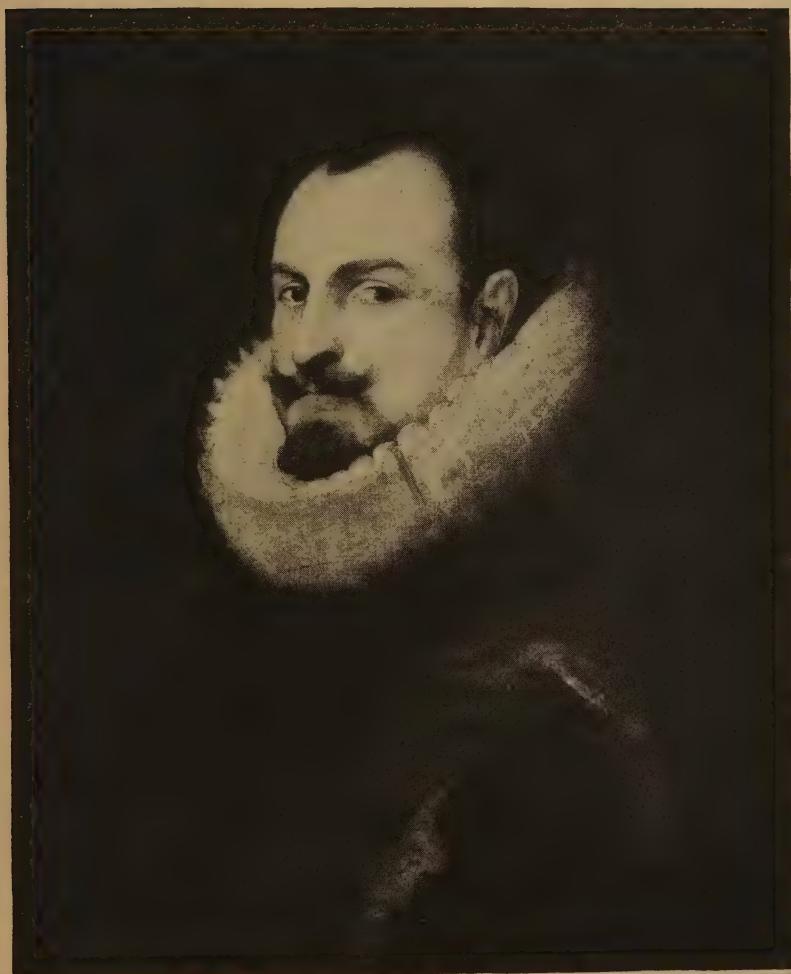

SIR ANTHONY VAN DYCK

FLEMISH: 1599—1641

617—*PORTRAIT OF THE PRINCE D'ONEGLIA,
OF THE HOUSE OF SAVOY*

Height, 25½ inches; width, 21 inches

3600
PORTRAIT head (the armored torso lightly brushed in, with suggestive coloring) of a handsome man with finely chiseled features, in a vigorous youthful maturity, facing the left, three-quarters front, with assured eyes directed upon the spectator. He is of warm complexion, with dark hair, upturned moustache and small chin beard, and he wears the high fluted ruff of his period, painted in a soft white. Dark background. Painted in Palermo, 1624; the original of the Dulwich Gallery three-quarters length portrait in armor.

FRANS HALS

DUTCH: 1580—1666

618—PORTRAIT OF A LADY

(Panel)

Height, 25½ inches; width, 17¾ inches

HALF-LENGTH seated figure of a woman in black apparel of rich texture, facing the spectator and slightly to the left, before a reddish mahogany toned background, lunetted. She has a thin face with rose touched cheeks, brown eyes, and her dark hair is brushed smoothly from her high forehead to vanish in a tight white cap. She wears a deep ruff of ribbon fluting, gold bracelet and rings and white lace cuffs. Her right hand comes to view held before her chest.

Signed at the left, midway, FH (monogram).

Hofstede de Groot declares that the panel, which he considers a masterpiece, was painted around 1616, and being one of those early paintings which disappeared, is probably the earliest example of Hals' work known to us.

PETER PAUL RUBENS

FLEMISH: 1577—1640

619—PORTRAIT OF PHILIP RUBENS

(Brother of the Painter)

(Panel)

Height, 27 inches; width, 19½ inches

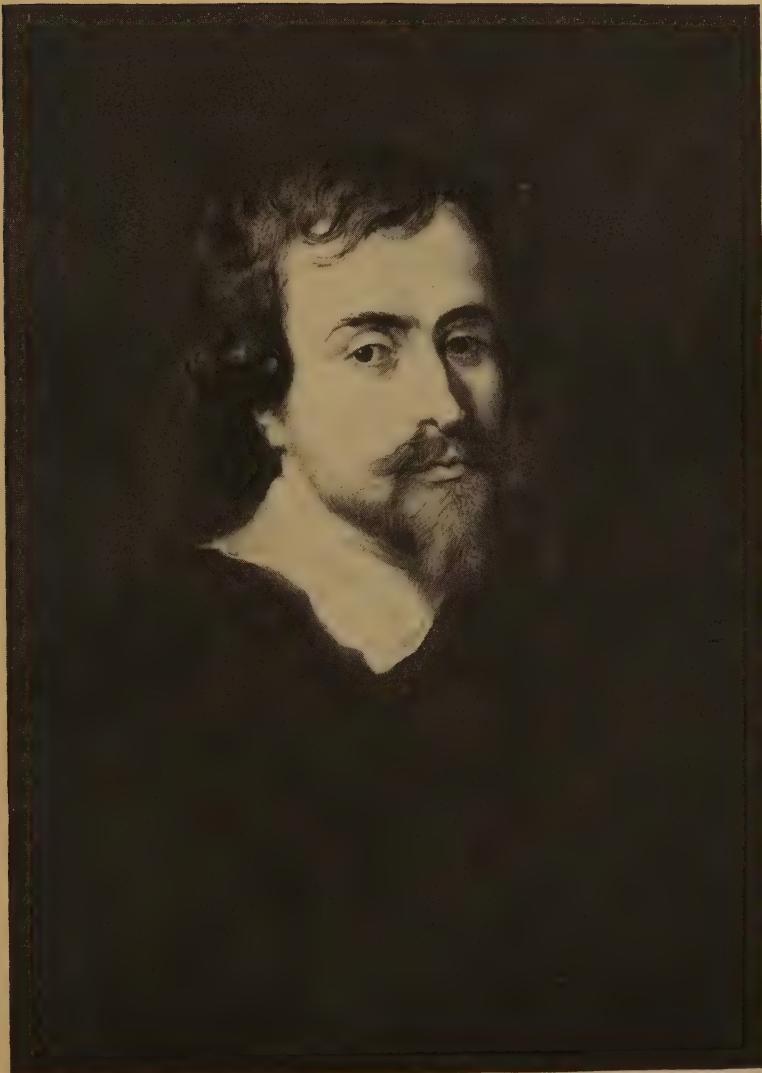

HEAD and shoulders portrait of a man of definitely modeled features, broad and bulbous of forehead, slender nose and sensitive mouth, dark eyes set well back. Reddish-chestnut hair worn at generous length, full in volume and brushed at once with freedom and with care. Moustache and chin beard of similar hue, worn in the contemporaneous fashion (mode Louis XIII). He wears a white collar, down-turning and broad, a dark brownish doublet and a black cloak, thrown back to the shoulders. He faces the right, three-quarters front.

The portrait shows Venetian influences and in France has been credited to the period of Rubens' return from Italy, in his 30's, the conjecture there being made that it was a self-portrait. That assumption was later corrected.

Expertised by Max Rooses, Antwerp, 1912.

Expertised by Hofstede de Groot, 1912.

Expertised by Dr. Wilhelm Bode, 1918.

HERMENSZ REMBRANDT VAN RYN

DUTCH: 1606—1669

620—SELF PORTRAIT

(Panel)

Height, 24 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches; width, 18 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches

REMBRANDT limned by himself as a young man, observed at less than half-length, with figure to right, and face turned toward his right shoulder, to look squarely upon the spectator, his brown eyes revealing a scrutinizing and direct gaze. An incipient moustache sprouts from his youthful lip, and his abundant hair of chestnut tones, brushed loosely out, atop his head and at the sides, down to his neck, supplies in its semi-shadow the relief of a frame to his strongly illumined face. His coat is black, his neck is enwound by a scarf of neutral tones, in lieu of collar, and a gold chain draped over his shoulders supports a medallion or locket on his breast.

No. 552 in C. Hofstede de Groot's "Catalogue of Dutch Painters," Macmillan & Co., London, 1916; vol. VI, p. 273; "Painted about 1629." Listed as in the R. B. Berens Collection, London.

Exhibited at the Royal Academy Winter Exhibition, London, 1899, when in the Berens ownership.

From the R. B. Berens Collection, London.

FLEMISH: 1599—1641

621—PORTRAIT OF A MAN

Height, 28 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches; width, 24 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches

A YOUNG man of full face and studious, pensive aspect, clean shaven, with thick brown hair parted lightly over the centre of his forehead and falling in masses of curls at either side well below his shoulder tops. He is portrayed at half-length, figure to front and thoughtful face turned toward his left. His right hand is brought to the front of his waist. His rich costume is dark, with loose sleeves puffed with white about the forearm and ending in a lace wristband tied with a black velvet ribbon. Deep and broad “Van Dyck” collar of thin white linen, open at the throat, its cord and tassels hanging down. Neutral olive background.

From the collection of Mr. Robert Vinkin.

Expertised by Hofstede de Groot, The Hague; by Max Rooses, Antwerp; and by Gaston Neumans, Paris.

SIR ANTHONY VAN DYCK

FLEMISH: 1599—1641

622—PORTRAIT OF THE ENGRAVER
PAULUS PONTIUS

Height, 29½ inches; width, 24¾ inches

HALF-LENGTH portrait of a fine looking, clean-cut man, figure to left three-quarters front and head turned toward his left shoulder, across which he glances with alert smile at someone somewhat back of him and unseen by the spectator. He has wavy black hair brushed with studied carelessness from his brow, which is whitened by a high light while his features below are of warm complexion, almost swarthy, and he wears a slight curling moustache and small lip tuft. He is in rich black, with slashed doublet and slashed sleeves showing white silk, and wears a white overhanging collar and lace cuffs, and a loosely flowing black mantle. Neutral olive background.

Expertised by Dr. Bredius, by Max Rooses and by Gaston Neumans.

DUTCH: 1564—1651

625—GIRL PREPARING THE ROASTS

Height, 45 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches; width, 36 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches

AN affable round faced and smiling young Dutch girl dressed for work in the kitchen, with sleeves rolled up, appears at three-quarters length, standing, with figure to right and face turned to regard the spectator. She has paused in the task of unskewering and transferring a well roasted bird from a great spit, to add it to the company of other roasted meats which lie on platters in front of her, atop a low cupboard-table. She is dressed in a mauve-gray waist with white under-waist and collar, and a loosely-hanging white apron, or tucked-up over-skirt, over a skirt of soft blue.

CHARLES ANDRÉ (CARLE) VANLOO

FRENCH: 1705—1765

628—A LADY OF MUSIC

Height, 42½ inches; width, 32 inches

THREE-QUARTERS length portrait of a lady, young, with light hair curled and powdered, seated facing the spectator. Painted as a copy of a framed oval portrait on a rectilinear canvas. The lady rests her left elbow on crimson cushions, the hand just touching a book of music held lightly in her right hand on her lap. Her head is inclined slightly to her right, and her dreamy eyes look into space. Low draped waist of soft greenish-turquoise note, with sleeves of pale yellowish tone, short and puffed, and bound by garlands. Flowers in her hair, at corsage and in her lap. Soft olive background with dark red drapery. Below the portrait proper, trophées of Cupid's arms and instruments of music, a canary perched thereon and regarding the lady, and another canary that has yielded its life.

MICHIEL JANSZ VAN MIEREVELT

DUTCH: 1567—1641

629—PORTRAIT OF A LADY

(Panel)

Height, 28 1/4 inches; width, 24 inches

HALF-LENGTH, seated, to left, three-quarters front. A Dutch lady of youthful middle age, and features a bit prim yet gracious, with bright brown eyes not belying smiling and sympathetic lips. Brown hair brushed primly back is glimpsed but briefly over the centre of her forehead, before her cap and encircling headdress of white lace, and she wears a double ruff. Dark gown of rich stuff with elaborate ornamentation, and a heavy gold chain which comes to view at her waist.

Pronounced by Hofstede de Groot in 1913 an authentic and characteristic work of this artist.

JEAN PESNE

FRENCH: 1623—1700

630—*PORTRAIT OF QUEEN LOUISA
ULRICA OF SWEDEN*

Height, 39½ inches; width, 31½ inches

THREE-QUARTERS length, standing, with figure to front and head turned slightly toward her right shoulder. Large blue eyes and rosy cheeks, curled and powdered hair with a ringlet drawn forward over one shoulder, and a tiara of pearls and gold. White silk décolleté gown embroidered in gold, and ermine lined blue mantle embroidered with golden crowns. Her right hand lightly touches her mantle, and her left hand rests on a jeweled golden crown.

631—*PORTRAIT OF KING
ADOLF FREDRIK OF SWEDEN*

Height, 39½ inches; width, 31¾ inches

THREE-QUARTERS length, standing, figure to left, face three-quarters front. The king, a large eyed, bright featured man with ruddy cheeks, wears a curled and powdered wig, and a white stock and black neck scarf appear above his gold studded dress armor. Left arm akimbo with hand at hip, his right hand holds the top of a mace which is poised on a chair in front of him. He supports an ermine lined royal purple mantle embroidered with gold crowns, and wears the Order of the Seraphim.

632—A PREMIÈRE

Height, 34 inches; width, 24½ inches

IN shallows of the sea, in a broad cove as indicated by a single projecting point of gray and reddish rocks distant on the right, a robust mother is giving her small boy his first lesson in out of door bathing, each untrammeled by bathing suit. They stand little more than ankle-deep in the water, whose languid ripples are iridescent in the sunset lights which glow softly on the nude flesh of the bathers, both of whom are back to the spectator. Horizon high and of delicate tones.

633—STILL LIFE

Height, 36½ inches; length, 39¾ inches

STANDING against a gray stone wall is an outdoor garden table made of heavy timbers, and heavily boarded about the lower part of the legs to form a bin. In front of the bin a bushel basket heaped high with freshly gathered mushrooms, and on the ground around the basket onions, artichokes and cauliflower brought from the fields. Atop the table a plucked chicken at left, at the centre a blue and white bowl filled to overflowing with ripe peaches, and at right some dead game birds, for one of which a cat climbing out of the bin is reaching. Soft light from the left.

TALL trees and large ones, with twisted trunks, and trees with slender trunks, growing in groups in an open wood throw the foreground into shadow and stand in shadow themselves, against a sunlit middleground and extended distance. Here in the shade, or illumined by occasional shafts of sunshine, numerous figures appear, and birds and a dog. A man playing the flute accompanies a girl seated beside him, who is singing, to the edification of a shepherdess standing near. A shepherd with his sheep approaches, and near by Pan, semi-nude, embraces a maiden in crimson and blue seated on a green mound beside him. On the farther bank of a river stand a castle and a mill with a water-wheel, and beyond sunny valleys and a blue distance tall towers appear vague against a light horizon.

Signed at the lower right, P.P.R.

Expertised in 1914 by Max Rooses of the Plantin-Moretus Museum, Antwerp, who certified that in its entirety, forest and figures, this canvas was painted by Peter Paul Rubens. Max Rooses was well known and acknowledged as a great authority on Flemish painting.

639—THE HOLY FAMILY UNDER THE APPLE TREE

Height, 106 inches; width, 74 inches

At right the Virgin, breast exposed, clad in cardinal, lavender and white and enfolded in a blue mantle, seated at the foot of an apple tree in plenteous bearing and holding in her arms the nude Child. Back of her, Joseph looks over her shoulder. In front of her, at the left, the infant St. John supported by his mother Elizabeth, both looking in adoration at the Child, while the Madonna gazes at the infant saint. Back of Elizabeth, who is seated or half-kneeling, Zacharias the father of John, stands with one hand on the tree and with the other extending a twig with two apples toward the Christ, who grasps it. In the foreground a lamb, a pair of rabbits and a brook, and in the background a varied landscape with sunset lights among the clouds. A red drapery is trained to a crotch in the apple tree.

Note: Painted about 1619. The canvas originally extended only to just above the heads of Joseph and Zacharias; the upper part added by another hand.

From the collection of the Earl of Chesterfield; sold at Christie's.

From the collection of the Earl of Carnarvon.

889—CUIVRE DORÉ MOUNTED MUSICAL CLOCK

After Falconet and Gouthière

975
Circular porcelain dial, supported by two outfacing winged cuirvre doré sphinx, central honeysuckle motive and oblong plinth of very beautiful red Verona marble, set on a base of similar marble with extended round ends; upon which stand two graceful nymphs sustaining garlands of flowers festooned from the hands of a winged cupid surmounting the dial of clock; an altered ewer and a tripod are beside the nymphs and two juvenile satyrs are seated before the plinth. The base has panel of Bacchic cupids playing with lions and lambs. Elaborate pedestaled socle, enclosing the musical cylinder and pipes. The molded top and base are of the same contour and rich marble as in clock. Richly mounted in finely chiseled cuirvre doré with egg-and-leaf moldings, finely balustered open gallery and delicate acanthus rinceaux at marble top, which is supported on beautiful caryatids rising from base. Open round central medallion with subject, "Venus Rising from Waves," supported by winged sphinx and flanked by wreaths of ivy leaves. Open end panels of the "Sun in Splendor" above intricate trophies. Base with panel of cupids lighting their flambeaux at a brazier, rosettes, festooned end panels and flattened bulbous feet. The chiseling of the cuirvre doré is of the most exquisite character and beauty.

Height of clock, 23½ inches; of socle, 16¾ inches; widths, 21 inches and 25½ inches.

From the collection of General von Friborg, Copenhagen, Denmark.

From the collection of Colonel Paulsen, Hothe, Copenhagen.

891—INLAID KINGWOOD CLOCK AND BRACKET, MOUNTED IN CUIVRE
DORÉ By A. Dubois; Louis XV Period

575

Arched and scrolled cartouche-shaped clock; with incurved dome, serpentine tapering oblong bracket. Richly mounted in chiseled cuirre doré with surmounting figure of David bearing the head of Goliath, leafage at dome, arched crown with shell-motived floral wreath, under panel of porcelain dial with figure of Andromache chained to the rock, feet, valance, molding and pendant of bracket with rocaille scrollings; the bracket also has corner appliqués of leafed nymphs' masks. Signed: "A. Dubois" on back of clock door and back of bracket.

Total height, 82½ inches.

892—CUIVRE DORÉ PENDULE AND BRACKET

By Joseph Morleret and Gallien, Ciseleur; Louis XV Period

Finely scrolled cartouche-shape, with incurved feet. Enriched with varied rocaille motives and leafage, surmounted by a cupid seated on clouds above a curious sunburst; ends with open blossomed lattice-panels. Open, shaped bracket with further rocaille scrollings and central coiled chimeric dragon. Signed on dial and back of movement: "Joseph Morleret à Paris." Signed under foot of clock by the bronze ciseleur, Gallien.

875

Total height, 29½ inches.

From the Lewenhaupt Collection, Malhammar, Sweden.

Note: It is excessively rare to find both the signatures of the clockmaker and also of the bronze ciseleur on one clock, for in most instances one worked for the more eminent of the two and his name was suppressed.

956—IMPORTANT INLAID TULIPWOOD UPRIGHT SECRETARY, MOUNTED
IN CUIVRE DORÉ

By Jean François Oeben; French Eighteenth Century

1050
Rectangular; frieze fitted with drawer. Large fall front lined with tooled green leather; interior with six drawers flanking compartments; mock fluted pilasters with valance stump feet. Lower portion enclosed with two tambour doors disclosing compartment, two drawers and right enclosed with falling door. Front beautifully enriched with parquetry cubes of tulip, hare and kingwood finely double banded with scrolled straps enclosing rare tortoise-shell grained elm-root. Ends with large round medallion and cubes. Mounted in finely chiseled cuirre doré with pierced key patterned gallery to Brocatelle marble top, rosetted and husked medallioned frieze on green ground, moldings and tryglyphs at crown of pilasters, scroll and key-patterned feet and acanthus-leaf appliquéd at valance. Signed by Oeben under base rail (slightly obliterated).

Height, 61½ inches; width, 47½ inches.

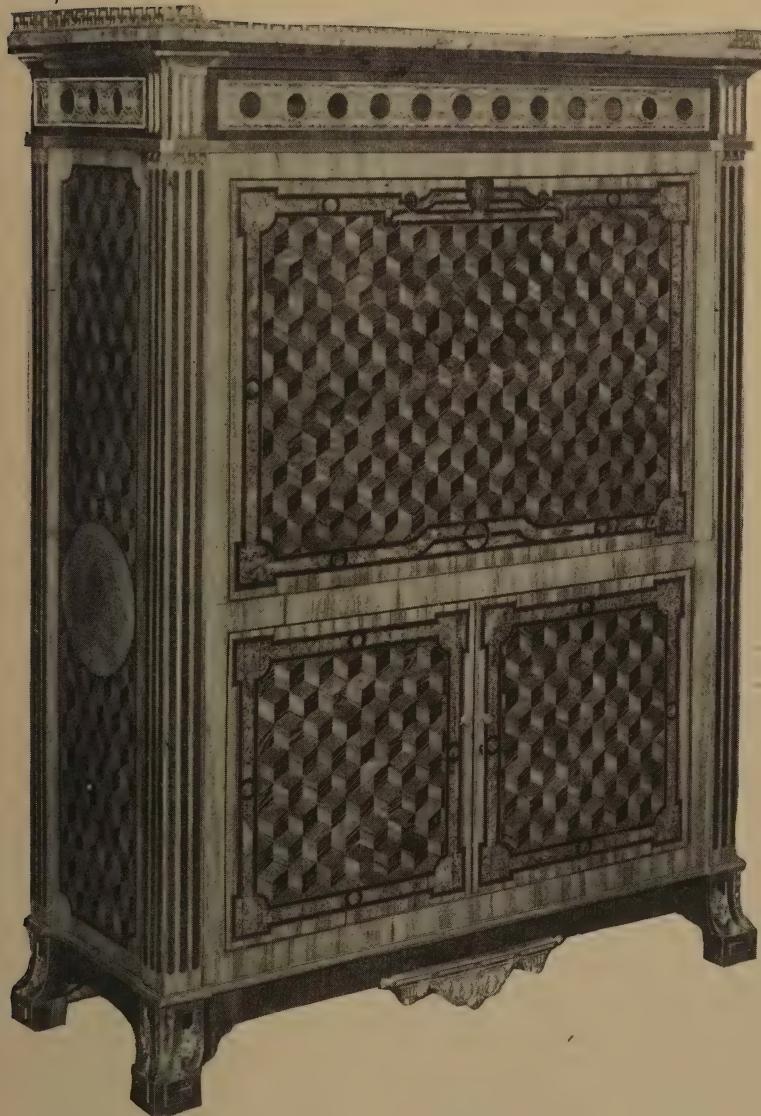

Jean François Oeben, the famous French cabinet-maker, renowned for the dignity and beautiful color and quality of his work, was made "Ebéniste du Roi" in 1754. He is generally known for his conception of the "Bureau du Roi," which was finished and signed by Riesener after his death.

A similar secretary by Oeben is in the Louvre (see Mollinier illustration). Another, slightly varying in details, is illustrated in "De Stil Louis XVI," by Seymour Ricci, 1913, page 137.

The restoration of this charming and important example of Oeben's craftsmanship was entrusted to the well-known restorer and connoisseur, Gustaf Sahlholm, Stockholm, by the present owner.

957—IMPORTANT INLAID TULIPWOOD WRITING TABLE, MOUNTED IN CUVRE DORÉ

By Pierre Bernard and C. P.; French, circa 1770

Oblong top, banded with tulipwood and lined with original tooled leather; scrolled frieze, fitted with three mock drawers at back and three drawers on front. Supported on graceful cabriole legs. Mounted in finely chiseled cuirvre doré with gadrooned molding at top stopped with shell corners. Shaped, panel-moldings to frieze, leaf-scrolled bail handles. Escutcheons, semicircular appliquéd parting the drawers. Mask of nymphs on ends, demi-nymph trusses at knees and leaf and claw toes. The mounts are signed C. P. The table is signed on top of left drawer, "P. Bernard, Ebeniste," and royal fleurs-de-lis.

Height, 34½ inches; length, 68¾ inches.

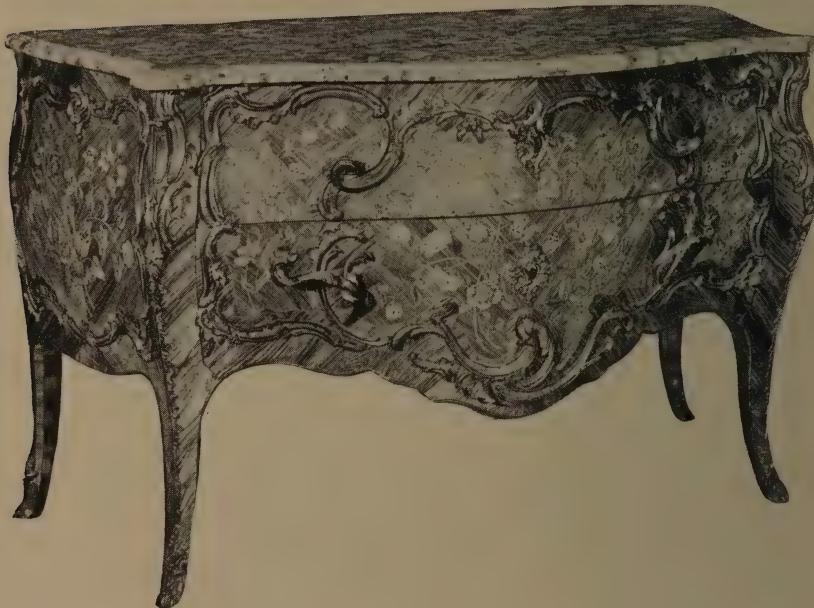

Note: This remarkably fine writing table has the unusual distinction of having both the cabinet-work and mountings signed. Pierre Bernard was "Maitre Ebéniste," January 24, 1766. C. P., the signer of the richly gilded and vigorously chiseled mountings is presumed to be Philippe Caffieri, the son of the famous Jacques Caffieri. Philip is said to have reversed his initial to thoroughly distinguish himself from his father. The mountings in this instance bear out the theory, as they most certainly show strong influence of Jacques Caffieri, the father, with whom Philippe worked for many years.

966—SCULPTURED WALNUT CABINET

French Renaissance, School of Goujon

1650
Rectangular upper portion, with architectural molded canted pediment enriched with military trophies and niched center occupied by statuette of the "Virgin and Child." Frieze with cherub-heads festooned with draped fruit; front enclosed by two paneled doors with parting and side pilasters having cherub-heads and pendent military trophies. The doors sculptured in low relief with subjects, left, "Venus and Cupid"; right, standing figure of "Mars." Extending lower portion, with molded frieze fitted with two drawers, having subjects of "Neptune" at left and "Persephone" at right; parted by masks. The doors under and similar pilasters to upper portion. The doors adorned with subjects, "Bacchus" at left and "Vulcan" at right. On molded base with ball feet.

Height, 7 feet 2 inches; width, 5 feet 5 inches.

Note: The sculptured figures on this superb cabinet are so strongly reminiscent of the work at the Hotel de Ville at Rouen by Jean Goujon that it is apparently the craftsmanship of Goujon or an immediate pupil.

Dr. Von Falke, of the "Kunstgewerbe Museum" in Berlin, has attested to the authenticity of this rare cabinet.

985—RARE PERSIAN SAPPHIRE-BLUE FLOWER GARDEN CARPET

Ispahan Late Seventeenth Century

Deep rich sapphire-blue field of very lustrous velvety texture; woven with innumerable growing varicolored blossoms of great variety, forming flower beds of the garden. In the center is an oblong panel irregularly striated with blue and old-red forming the central pool, with fountain and boats thereon; from it issue broad cruciform bands variously in crimson and green and two tones of green similarly striated to center; on the two preceding to ends, varied flowering shrubs growing on islands and further boats. At the four corners crimson oblongs with more flowers; red, ivory and blue striated square paneled pools at inner ends. Finished with crimson lavender and turquoise-green pinnacled borders and blue-blossomed ivory guards. The flowers are in delicate colors and crimsons. (Needs slight restoration.)

10 feet 2 inches by 6 feet 2 inches.

 Note: This very rare and beautifully woven carpet has been illustrated in color by F. R. Martin, "A History of Oriental Carpets before 1800," Plate XXIV, and there recorded as at Näsby House, Sweden.

Exhibited at the Exposition of Mussulman Art, Munich, 1910.

Illustrated in the "Descriptive Work of the Exposition" by Drs. Sarre and Martin.

Referred to in the "Burlington Magazine," No. CXXII., May, 1913, page 96.

986—PERSIAN FLOWER GARDEN CARPET

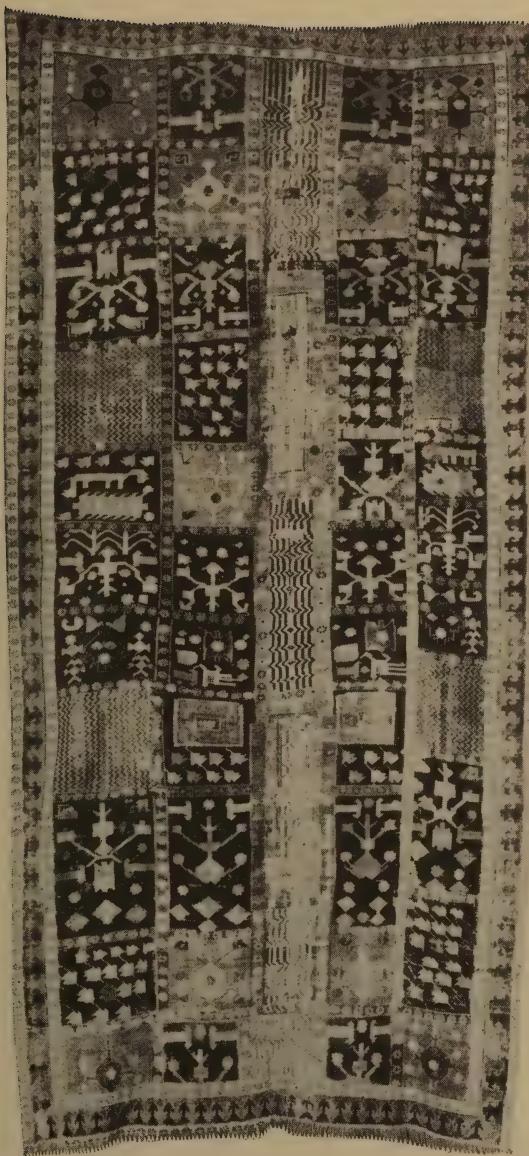

Western Persian Late Sixteenth Century

1600
The main stream of the garden is placed off center and is paneled with walls of detached blossoms and variously striated in differing crimson and ivory and two tones of green. Flanking the stream are irregular oblong blossomed panels of deep rich resonant sapphire-blue occupied by diverse conventional flowering shrubs and occasional archaic animals. The blue panels are interrupted at intervals with crimson flower beds and four striated side oblongs zigzagged in rose-crimson, blue and tawny-brown. Green and rose-crimson pinnacled border having blossomed ivory guards.

12 feet 3 inches by 6 feet 5 inches.

Note: Exceptionally early Persian garden carpets, with walls, pools and flowers, are exceedingly rare. Very few of this type are known to exist to-day.

987—LATTICED IVORY CARPET

Mid-Persian, Dated 1807

Lustrous ivory field; woven with red diamond lattice sustaining long dark blue serrated leaves, the diamonds occupied by cruciform bouquets of roses and tulips in rose-crimson, yellow, pale blue and tawny black. These bear smaller diamonds enclosing smaller blossoms at junctures of larger diamond motives. Rich lapis-lazuli blue border, displaying in the colors of the field detached lotus flowers, guarded by long leaves inversely hooked from flanking crimson bandings; crimson and yellow guards of angular scrollings. Inscribed on end border with Mussulman date, 1222 A. H.; namely, 1807 in the Christian era.

18 feet 11 inches by 8 feet 5 inches.

Note: This interesting carpet has been illustrated in color by F. R. Martin, "A History of Oriental Carpets before 1800," Plate XXIII, and there recorded as at Näsby House, Sweden.

4100

Rich lapis-lazuli blue field. Displaying series of long cartouches alternating with cruciform motives, finely arabesqued with a great diversity of bouquets and large infloretted lotus blossoms. Long arched stems of hyacinths guard the cartouches and cruciform motives, giving a splendid sweeping movement and dignity to the composition. Woven in lavender pinks, wide range of crimsons, amber-yellow, jade-greens, sapphire-blues and ivory with a curious flame-red recurring in the crimsons. Variable rose-du-Barry borders in the colors of the field, occupied by very broad angular scrollings and lotus blossoms ably supporting the strength of the field. Ivory and tan guards of scrolling carnations.

15 feet 2 inches by 7 feet 5 inches.

Note: This finely conceived and handsome carpet has been illustrated in color by F. R. Martin, "A History of Oriental Carpets before 1800," Plate I, and is there recorded as at Näsby House, Sweden.

989—JADE-GREEN LOTUS CARPET

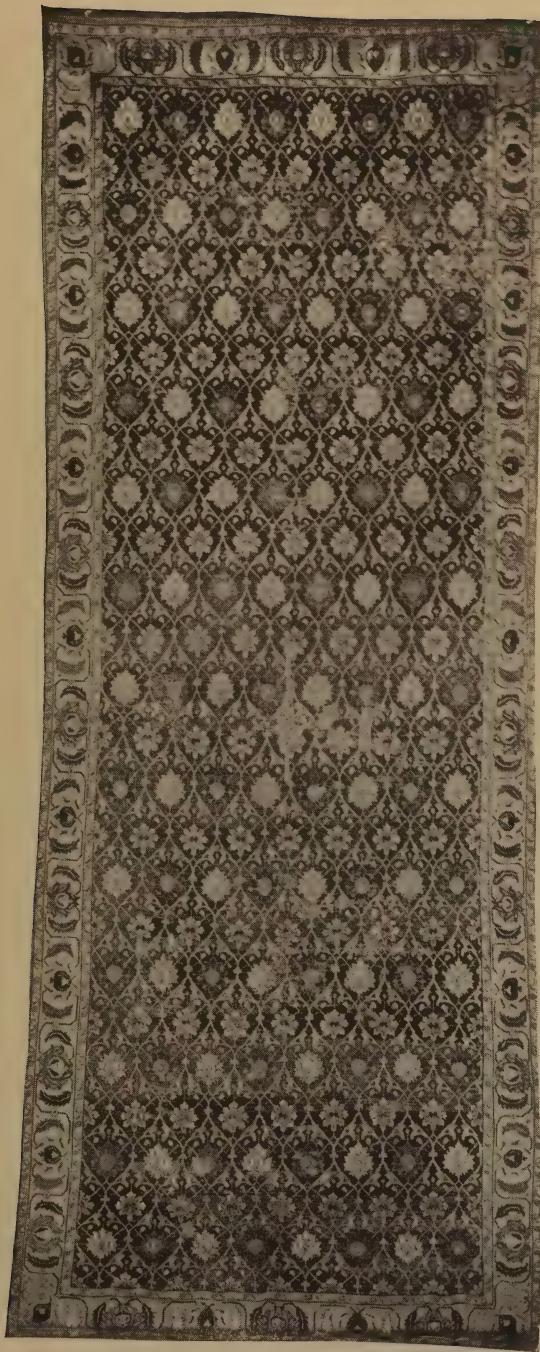

Eastern Persian Early Seventeenth Century

Lustrous jade-green field, fluctuating to almost every tone of varying green. Woven in rose-du-Barry pink with charming Gothic-leaved and delicately traceried ogivals enclosing varied infloretted lotus blossoms in sapphire-blue, pale yellow, rose-crimson, variable plum-color and gray-ivory; lightly arabesqued with ivory scroll sprays. Beautiful golden-yellow border, displaying more brilliant colors than the field, angular scrollings of Herati leaves enclosing larger lotus blossoms. Ivory guards of leaf and flower scrollings. Green fringe on ends. Circa 1625.

15 feet 3 inches by 5 feet 9 inches.

Note: This delicately traceried floral carpet is illustrated in color by F. R. Martin, "A History of Oriental Carpets before 1800," Plate XV, and is there quoted as being at Näsby House, Sweden.

992—SILVER ENRICHED RENAISSANCE TAPESTRY

Enghien Late Sixteenth Century

“Antony and Cleopatra Enthroned.” The happy lovers, clasping hands, are seated on two daisied chairs before garlanded columns and laurel festoons. The diademmed queen is attired in voluminous blue classic robes and gray mantle, Antony in flowing yellow and pink mantle over military costume. At right, partially seen, are three attendants, and a bearded Roman military chief offering a commander’s baton with right hand and pointing to a large military trophy at the couple’s feet. Antony averts his eyes, having no wish to leave his enchantment. Woven in greens, tans, pinks, red-brown, blues, yellows and ivories with the complementing yellow and blue of the mantles and the silver enrichment giving a most agreeable tonality. Side borders of bandings with egg-and-reel motives in silver and yellows.

Height, 9 feet 3 inches; width, 5 feet 4½ inches.

995—FLEMISH TAPESTRY TABLE COVER

Brussels Late Sixteenth Century

“The Visit of the Three Angels to Abraham.” Finely scrolled oval strap-cartouche at center, festooned with ribboned garlands of husks, centered with mask at base. Displaying the three winged angels of the Lord attired in voluminous robes seated at a table spread outside a cottage behind whose half-door stands Sarah. The angel at center announces the important message to Abraham, who wears quaint rustic costume and is standing at right near Sarah. Woven in very lovely pastel colors and crimsons. Deep rich resonant large blue-black field surrounding the cartouche; enriched in the fine colors of the center with detached sprays of very varied flowers radiating to the cartouche from all over the field. The flowers included are roses, tulips, tiger-lilies, peonies, poppies, stocks, double marigolds, hyacinths, forget-me-nots, lilies of the valley, daffodils and daisies; amid which flit occasional dragonflies and butterflies, sipping the honey from the flowers; snails and lizards, too, are seen.

996—GOBELINS TAPESTRY

By I. Souet, 1712

“The Month of October.” After Lucas van Leyden. A grand seigneur and his lady are seated at right foreground; he holds a wine tankard on his right knee and is in conversation; his little daughter has her hands on her father’s shoulders and her head peers at the distinguished couple. An attendant brings forward viands behind and stands before a double-arched trellised arbor overgrown with vines bearing beautiful bunches of grapes. A distant château is seen through one of the arches of the arbor. At left the little son of the seigneur holds up a bunch of grapes he has taken from a basket resting on a Gothic table, to a seated peasant boy near him. Beyond, partially before the arbor is a further seated seigneur, making love to one of the young maids; at left a group of peasants is pressing grapes in a large vat. About middle distance and in the far distance before finely wooded hills are two groups, one of fiddlers under trees playing for the other group, dancing on the sward before them. The weaving is in lovely pastel colors, dominated by the superlatively lovely crimsons and blues of the major costumes. The beautiful borders have camaïeu medallions at corners and quarters, displaying at center crown the sign of the Zodiac for October, a lobster captioned “October.” At sides and upper corners heads of Roman warriors and maiden; the three at foot occupied by figures of cupids playing, hunting and pressing grapes. The medallions are flanked by leonic heads with paws which sustain, from rings held in their mouths, clustered garlands of rare fruit, flowers, birds pecking at fruit and in one a bird’s nest with the fledglings chirping for more and more food. Woven in the rich colors of the field with wine-red grounds fluctuating to yellow in areas. Finished with leaf-molded golden-yellow and red guards.

Height, 9 feet 6 inches; width, 9 feet 1 inch.

Note: Souet, the weaver, was “Chef d’Abelialar” at the Gobelins, 1693-1934. Jules Guiffrey stated from the records that this tapestry was woven under Souet in 1712. It was given by Louis XIV to the Swedish ambassador, Count Sparre, who in turn presented it to Queen Louisa Ulrica, the wife of King Frederick Adolphus of Sweden, and remained in the Royal Collection until acquired in 1900 through Mme. Colonel Thekla Boy by Carl Robert Lamm, of Näsby. Böttiger, the Curator of the Royal Swedish Collections, describes this beautiful Gobelins tapestry in his extensive work, “Woven Tapestries of the Royal Collections.” The set of twelve months, of which this is October, is one of the most noted sets known. Originally woven in Flanders (1530) for the Infante Ferdinand of Portugal, and generally known as the “Months of Lucas.” Lucas van Leyden drew this splendid cartoon.

997—PASTORAL TAPESTRY

Brussels Seventeenth Century

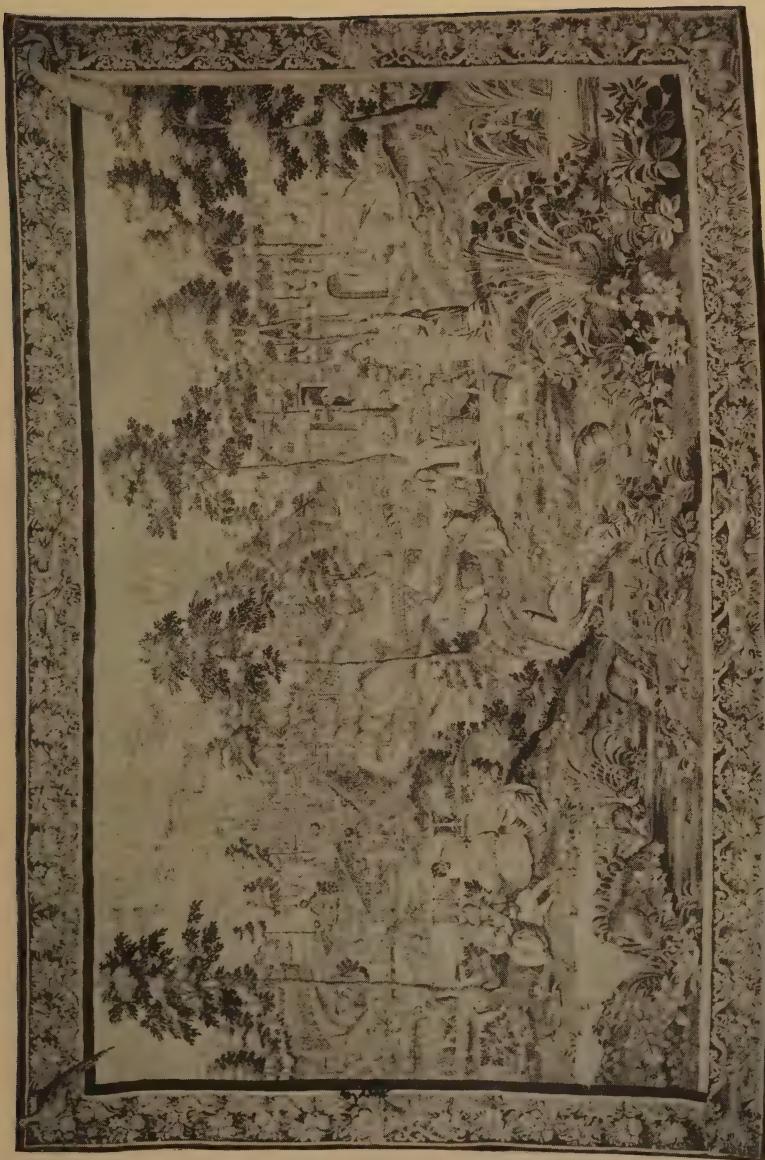

“Spring-time Sheep Shearing.” Panoramic view of rising uneven lightly wooded country, overgrown in the foreground with flowers and brambles, amid which near a pool at right and a winding stream toward left are ducks, proud peacock and hen and water-fowl. On the banks of the stream toward center and before farm-houses are three groups, men preparing and dipping a flock of sheep, the patient shearers sitting toward front and a group preparing garlands of flowers on a trestled table. At right Diana and a nymph appear, with two leashed hounds nearby. At left, before and in the Italian gardens of a grand château, are the seigneur and his gay friends at May-day gambols, some engaged in conversation, others playing musical instruments, a party rowing a boat on a lake and a large mounted and unmounted company shooting birds. Distant wooded hills rise to a very small strip of sky. Woven in delicate blues, fine yellows, tans, ivories and greens, lightly relieved with crimsons. Borders of rare ribboned bouquets of flowers pendent from leaf scrolls, interrupted at intervals by running hounds, hare, recumbent doe, peacocks and other birds. Woven in the delicate colors of the field on grounds shading from rich warm brown to golden-yellow. Signed with Brussels mark, two B’s with shield between, at left foot of selvedge, and about center with the weaver’s name: M : DE . VOS.

Height, 11 feet 1 inch; length, 16 feet 8 inches.

Note: Mark de Vos, a famous Brussels weaver, was active, 1655-1663. He came of a family of weavers noted for their landscapes especially.

From the collection of Rittmaster Printzskéöld, Eksjö, Sweden.
